INTRODUCTION

1. This case is about the University of California, Los Angeles (“UCLA”) repeatedly and systemically violating the civil rights of students, faculty, and community members who protested against a genocide in Palestine and UCLA’s investment in companies that profit from that genocide. Because of UCLA’s relentless discriminatory crusade against people expressing a pro-Palestinian viewpoint, a violent mob—comprised of self-described Zionists and members of far-right extremist groups, among others—ruthlessly attacked protesters for hours beginning on April 30, 2024, while the UCLA Police Department (“UCPD”) and private security companies stood and watched.

2. Mob members violently assaulted protesters wearing keffiyehs, hijabs, and other symbols of pro-Palestinian viewpoints, in some instances breaking their bones, sexually assaulting them, burning their eyes with chemical munitions, punching them, hitting them with metal rods, poles, and boards, and hurling incendiary devices into the peaceful encampment.<sup>1</sup>

3. Mob members acted as a group, making coordinated moves. They put larger people up front to break the protestors’ line—assaulting protesters physically, blasting bullhorns in their ears, and jabbing flagpoles into the encampment, striking people inside. The mob members seemed to be enjoying themselves, socializing in between brutalizing protesters. They shot chemical munitions, laughed and joked about it, planned the next attack, and then attacked the protesters again.

4. The unhinged mob violently, brutally, and relentlessly attacked the pro-Palestine protesters in the Palestine Solidarity Encampment at UCLA for five hours beginning on April 30, 2024. It was the worst night of violence against pro-Palestinian protesters in all of 2024’s campus protests around the country.

1           5.       Not a single member of the mob attack was arrested that night, even though police
2 and private security watched from just a few yards away as the attack raged for hours and was
3 broadcast live to millions of people across the country and in Los Angeles.<sup>2</sup>

4           6.       After this hate-filled mob attack ended, and while many protesters were still seeking 5 medical attention for their injuries, the encampment's peaceful demonstrators faced a phalanx of 6 militarized police on May 1, 2024. UCLA and UCPD asked the Los Angeles Police Department
7 ("LAPD") and the California Highway Patrol ("CHP") to forcibly remove people expressing pro-
8 Palestinian views. Police hurled flashbangs, shot powerful kinetic impact projectiles at peoples' 9 heads and faces, and used excessive physical force against and falsely arrested students, faculty, and 10 concerned community members. Protesters were dragged, beaten, and body slammed by cops
11 during this hours-long raid on the encampment. Over 200 pro-Palestinian protesters were arrested, 12 with many reporting invasive searches, false arrests, and public humiliation during their arrest and 13 detention.

14          7.       On June 10, 2024, pro-Palestinian protesters were once again attacked by militarized
15 police forces, falsely arrested, beaten, shot with less lethal munitions, and had their civil rights 16 violated.

17          8.       UCLA has a long and well-documented history of discriminating against pro-
18 Palestinian views, whether the people expressing them are Muslim, Jewish, Christian, atheist, 19 agnostic, or of any other faith. This hostile environment is marked by anti-Palestinian, anti-Arab,
20 anti-Muslim, and Islamophobic incidents and a complete erasure of Jewish criticism of Israel,
21 Zionism, and the impact of both on Palestinians.<sup>3</sup>

22          9.       Between October 7, 2023, and April 2024, pro-Palestinian students faced physical 23 attacks, threats of violence, and harassment, including Islamophobic slurs. One student was held at

1 knifepoint by a Zionist counter protester who disrupted a rally near UCLA in Westwood. Muslim
2 women wearing hijabs were threatened and verbally abused. Students wearing keffiyehs and other
3 pro-Palestine clothing were attacked with chemical munitions, assaulted, and threatened with rape
4 and other violence on campus. Despite reports to authorities, UCLA took no action to safeguard
5 students or hold perpetrators accountable.

6 10. The events at UCLA highlight systemic anti-Palestinian bias and the administration's
7 failure to uphold its obligation to protect the rights of students and faculty to engage in peaceful
8 protest and expression.<sup>4</sup> The university's actions and omissions have not only fostered an unsafe 9 and hostile environment but have also violated the constitutional rights of those advocating for 10 Palestinian rights, particularly their rights to free speech and assembly under Article 1, §2 of the 11 California Constitution.

12 11. This action seeks to hold UCLA accountable for its failure to address and prevent 13 Islamophobic, anti-Palestinian and anti-Arab discrimination, its violation of civil rights of all pro-
14 Palestinian protesters—a group comprised of a wide range of people including Jewish people—and 15 to demand systemic changes to ensure the safety and equity of all members of the university 16 community.

17 12. This action also seeks to hold individual members of the mob that attacked the 18 Palestine Solidarity Encampment accountable for brutally beating and terrorizing protesters because 19 of their pro-Palestine political views and activity, as well as those who financed, organized, and 20 encouraged the attacks.

21 13. Plaintiffs seek to enjoin UCLA's practice and policy of punishing pro-
22 Palestinian speech, a declaration that law enforcement's violent actions in clearing the 23 Palestine Solidarity Encampment were unlawful, and fair compensation for violation of their 24 rights—including the unlawful use of force, assault, battery, and civil rights violations—by 25 UCLA, police, and the mob. Because UCLA refuses to disclose the nature and extent of its

4 FACTUAL BACKGROUND

5 A. UCLA HAS HISTORICALLY BEEN HOSTILE TO PRO-PALESTINIAN 6 ADVOCACY

7 14. UCLA has long been a hostile environment for Arab and Palestinian students,
8 faculty, and staff.<sup>5</sup> Incidents include harassment of faculty for teaching material critical of Israel,
9 profiling of Muslim and Arab students, and administrative indifference to racism. A notable
10 example is the 2012 report by UC President Yudof's Advisory Council, co-authored by a pro-Israel
11 lobbyist, which equated criticism of Israel with anti-Semitism and targeted pro-Palestinian activism.
12 Then-Chancellor Gene Block endorsed this report, setting a tone of administrative hostility.

13 15. In 2012, Professor David Shorter faced a smear campaign and threats after including 14 pro-Boycott, Divestment, and Sanction material in a course he was teaching. UCLA's 15 administration failed to support him during this ordeal. Muslim and Arab students have been 16 profiled and shadowed by campus police while targeted Islamophobic acts, such as leaving raw 17 pork at a Muslim student's door were ignored. In 2023, UCLA students wearing hijabs were 18 exploitatively recorded, leading to online harassment and calls for their expulsion. These incidents 19 reflect a broader pattern of anti-Palestinian, anti-Arab, and Islamophobic racism, compounded and 20 burgeoned by administrative inaction.

21 16. In 2014, students seeking divestment from companies supporting the Israeli 22 occupation were harassed, doxxed, and threatened with violence. Non-university Zionist groups
23 brought Israeli soldiers to campus to intimidate students, often filming them without consent.
24 Chancellor Block ignored repeated appeals to address these concerns, prioritizing meetings with 25 pro-Israel groups over the safety of pro-Palestinian students.

28 Racism, Corrected May 15 Report, at 1 (May 15 2024), <https://www.dropbox.com/scl/fi/k6qkx97jdfg61i6vlnxq/CORRECTED-MAY-15-REPORT-OF-TASK-FORCE-ON-ANTI.pdf?rlkey=j82r8gn89i03yclzn6hcxgz3u&e=1&st=6s3n3uvu&dl=0>

1           17. Faculty members who spoke out about Palestine also faced institutional backlash.
2 Courses that explored Palestinian history and human rights were scrutinized, and professors
3 teaching these subjects were often accused of spreading propaganda.<sup>6</sup> In one instance, a faculty
4 member was denied tenure solely as a result of complaints from national pro-Israel advocacy groups
5 that are not part of the UCLA community, despite that professor's otherwise impeccable teaching
6 record and strong support from UCLA students and colleagues.

7           18. The administrative atmosphere discouraged many Arab and Palestinian students, as 8 well as Jewish and other students who supported human rights for Palestinians, from openly
9 engaging in activism or expressing their views. Several students reported receiving anonymous
10 threats, while others experienced heightened surveillance during campus events. This environment
11 of intimidation had a chilling effect on free speech and academic discourse surrounding Palestinian 12 issues.

13           19. The repression of Palestinian and Muslim students and those who associate with and 14 support them stands in stark contrast to UCLA's tolerant approach to other protests. Whether it was 15 the protests following the police killing of Michael Brown, Jr., or the murder of George Floyd, the 16 UAW strikes, protests against apartheid, Vietnam, or virtually any protest that has ever occurred at 17 UCLA, the Palestine exception to freedom of expression and association has been in full force.

18           20. UCLA faculty have been harassed for teaching material deemed critical of Israel, 19 some subjected to McCarthy-style witch hunts violating academic freedom and freedom of 20 expression in service of national pro-Israel lobbying groups.<sup>7</sup> Muslim and Arab students have been 21 profiled and shadowed by campus police and have been threatened for wearing clothing associated 22 with pro-Palestinian views.

23           21. As recently as three weeks ago, a poster inside an Arab-American faculty member's
24 office that simply read "Teach Palestine" was ripped off the wall while someone screamed he was a

1 “terrorist sympathizer” who should be banned from campus. Although the faculty member filed an 2 internal complaint, UCLA has taken no action.

3 22. Not only has the university for years refused to take any kind of action against this
4 harassment, but former Chancellor Block also harbored nakedly racist, anti-Palestinian sentiments.
5 Throughout all these years, the upper administration—especially former Chancellor Block—refused
6 to engage with appeals, even from senior faculty members, about the increasingly racist and hostile
7 environment on campus.

8 23. When Students for Justice in Palestine (“SJP”) held their national conference at 9 UCLA in 2018, pro-Palestinian advocates faced violent attacks from outside protesters and received 10 no support from UCLA. Then-Chancellor Gene Block published an editorial asserting that SJP was 11 antisemitic for its support of the boycott, divestment, and sanctions movement.

12 B. OCTOBER 7, 2023 to APRIL 24, 2024: HARASSMENT OF PRO-PALESTINIAN
13 STUDENTS INCREASES RAPIDLY

14 24. On October 7, 2023, Hamas conducted an armed operation on Israeli military 15 installations and towns. The attack left approximately 300 Israeli soldiers and over 900 civilians
16 dead, and approximately 240 were abducted and taken to Gaza. At the UCLA campus, students 17 were genuinely shell-shocked and saddened by the sudden loss of life.

18 25. When Israel’s leadership announced its genocidal intent in Gaza, the mood at UCLA
19 shifted. Many students and faculty felt betrayed by one-sided, acontextual university statements that 20 focused their attention only on the Hamas attack and not the immediate, destructive actions of the 21 Israeli Defense Forces, let alone the history of occupation and apartheid-like oppression that 22 preceded the October 7 attack.<sup>8</sup>

1           26.     The Israeli response to the attack constituted a violation of the genocide convention<sup>9</sup>,
2 war crimes, and crimes against humanity, with widespread airstrikes, ground incursions, deliberate
3 destruction of Gaza’s water system, and an intensive blockade of Gaza—all broadcast by Israeli 4 leadership, funded by the U.S. government and supported by UCLA university officials. These 5 actions targeted civilian infrastructure, including schools, hospitals, and shelters, resulting in mass
6 casualties and destruction. The intentional targeting of civilians and the systematic deprivation of 7 essential resources like water, food, and electricity meet the definitions of genocide under 8 international law. Students and faculty on campus identified these atrocities as part of a broader 9 campaign of ethnic cleansing and systemic violence against Palestinians.

10           27.     Israel’s genocidal acts after Hamas’s October 7 attack, along with UCLA’s response, 11 triggered a wave of pro-Palestinian activism and anti-Palestinian violence at UCLA.

12           28.     Harassment and violence directed at Palestinians, Arabs, Muslims, and solidarity
13 activists proliferated. Students were physically attacked in Westwood by Zionist protesters; one
14 student had a knife held to their throat by a Zionist protestor. UCPD officers did not intervene 15 beyond asking the attackers to leave.

16           29.     On October 11, 2023, faculty held a teach-in about the crisis in Gaza. Before the 17 teach-in began, threatening messages were shared in public and private chat rooms, leading 18 organizers to decide to move the event online. Participants were attacked both in person and online
19 by pro-Israel protesters.

20           30.     Approximately fifteen (15) students went to the originally planned in-person teach-in 21 location in Kaplan Hall because they did not know the teach-in had moved online for safety reasons.

1 Seven men went to that location and intimidated and harassed the students. When these men
2 arrived, the attendees were sitting on the floor, watching the Zoom event. The men called them
3 “terrorists,” “baby murderers,” and “killers,” and threatened violence against them. One said, “I’m 4 gonna rip your head off” and “You better fucking run from me you terrorist.” The men grabbed the 5 students’ laptops and threw them onto the floor and into the trash. As students attempted to leave,
6 one of the men blocked their exit, physically intimidated them, and screamed at them.

7 31. On October 12, 2023, students faced verbal and physical assaults from pro-Israel
8 protesters. Muslim women in hijabs and keffiyehs were specifically targeted with threats of rape
9 and killing, and racial and religious slurs. The mob shoved students, forcing them to form human 10 barriers for protection. Despite the visibility of these events, UCLA officials refused to take any 11 measures to dissuade perpetrators or hold them accountable for their violence.

12 32. By October 30, 2023, Islamophobic incidents at UCLA escalated. Two students 13 wearing hijabs were filmed without consent, resulting in online death threats and harassment. The 14 same day, a man carried a sign equating Islam with Nazism during a pro-Israel rally attended by 15 UCLA administrators.

16 33. Pro-Palestinian students, fearing the escalating attacks and unable to rely on UCLA 17 to protect them, created their own safety protocols, including escorting one another while on 18 campus or walking home. The group prioritized providing safety escorts to Muslims and Muslim-19 appearing people wearing hijabs or keffiyehs.

20 34. Faculty at UCLA, the UC Ethnic Studies Faculty Council, and a group of Palestinian 21 faculty with members across twelve schools and seven campuses wrote to the University of 22 California, alerting it to the dangers of its rhetoric and the consequences that pro-Palestinian
23 students were already experiencing.<sup>10</sup> UCLA’s leadership took no steps to protect students.

1           35.     On October 31, 2023, Associate Vice Chancellor of Campus Life Mike DeLuca
2 laughed and joked with Zionist protesters while a man walked through a rally with a sign equating
3 Islam to terrorism and Nazism. UCLA officials took no steps to intervene.

4           36.     The anti-Arab, anti-Muslim, and anti-Palestinian harassment and assault continued
5 between November 2023 and April 2024 and included the following incidents, many of which were 6 part of a formal complaint to the Department of Education's Office of Civil Rights: a Black student
7 in a keffiyeh being sprayed with chemical munitions and repeatedly followed on campus; UCPD
8 detaining pro-Palestinian protesters for removing an offensive poster; UCLA officials failing to 9 respond to the Task Force On Anti-Palestinian, Anti-Arab, and Anti-Muslim Racism; and the 10 invitation of Israel's former foreign minister Tziporah Livni to speak at UCLA, among others.

12           MOB ATTACK, AND POLICE RAID

13           April 25, 2024: The Palestine Solidarity Encampment Begins in Peace

14           37.     In April 2024, students nationwide protested against Israel's genocidal acts in 15 Palestine, the United States government's funding for it, and universities' refusal to divest from 16 companies profiting from it. UCLA was no different.

17           38.     Motivated by the genocide of the Palestinian people in Gaza and by the UCLA
18 administration's repression of pro-Palestine students and simultaneous tolerance for, and 19 encouragement of, their Zionist attackers, students established the Palestine Solidarity Encampment
20 on Royce Quad on April 25, 2024, to amplify their demands and keep themselves safe.

21           39.     Royce Quad is approximately 190 yards long and over 70 yards deep. Four buildings
22 have entrances facing Royce Quad: Powell Library, Royce Hall, Haines Hall, and Kaplan Hall.
23 Each of these buildings has multiple entrances besides the entrances facing Royce Quad.

24           40.     The only walkway encumbered by the encampment was the brick walkway between 25 Royce Hall and Powell Library. Students could walk around the encampment to get between the 26 two buildings, adding about one minute to their walk.

27 //

28

1           41.     Access to Tongva steps was not restricted by the encampment, nor were the East-
2 West sidewalks of Royce Quad. Any restrictions to academic buildings were made by UCLA, not 3 the encampment.

4           42.     The encampment area was set back from the entrances to Royce Hall and Powell
5 Library, such that steps, entrances, and walkways surrounding these buildings were freely
6 accessible. Both buildings could be easily accessed from their normal entrances (and these wide
7 areas were later filled with Zionist counter-protestors, including during the daytime). UCLA
8 administration opted to close the entrances proximate to the encampment, as announced in a 9 BruinALERT.

10          43.     The encampment was a peaceful expression of dissent, demanding divestment from 11 companies complicit in the Israeli occupation and demanding transparency in UC investments. The 12 encampment included Jewish Seder services and Muslim prayer services—both of which were 13 disrupted by the mob outside the encampment—and lectures and book discussions led by faculty
14 and graduate students, all while maintaining a strict policy of non-engagement with the mob 15 brewing outside the perimeter of the community space.

16          44.     The encampment included a library, food available to everyone, and a medical tent.
17 There were film screenings, reading groups, and education sessions on the history of Israel-
18 Palestine.

19          45.     People entering the encampment were asked to agree to certain safety protocols. No 20 one was prohibited from the encampment unless their actions were disruptive or a safety threat.

21          46.     UCLA was immediately aware of the encampment and quickly released public
22 statements and a message to the UCLA community. UCLA officials told students, faculty, and staff
23 they were aware of the encampment, that it was peaceful, aligned with the right to free expression,
24 and minimally disruptive. Classes continued as planned. UCLA announced that it had restricted
25 access to Royce Hall and Powell Library but that everyone could enter from other entrances not 26 directly facing the Royce Quad.

1                   April 27, 2024: Counter Protesters Escalate Their Violence

2           47.     On April 27, 2024, Administrative Chancellor Michael Beck sent an email to faculty
3 stating that university officials had permitted a large pro-Israel counter protest for the next day. He 4 told Randall Kuhn, a public health professor at UCLA, that a counter protest would not risk student
5 safety. He further stated that counter protesters do not want to “pick a fight”.

6           48.     Later that day, counter-protesters brought weapons, including a large sword that was 7 confiscated by police, and threatened encampment members with violence, all while hurling racial
8 and ethnic slurs. However, though UCLA officials were regularly in and around the encampment, 9 they did not take any action to curb the dangerous acts of the counter-protestors—not even against 10 the person brandishing a sword.

11           49.     Counter protestors physically harassed and verbally threatened students in the 12 encampment, attempting to enter the encampment to attack students and destroy encampment
13 members’ property. Although Darnell Hunt and other UCLA administrators were repeatedly told of 14 these events, they did not act to prevent escalating counter protestor violence and did not direct the 15 UCPD to do so.

16                   April 28, 2024 and April 29, 2024: The Jumbotron Escalates Mob Violence

17           50.     At about 9:00am on April 28, 2024, counter protesters erected a large Jumbotron in 18 the area immediately adjacent to the encampment upon documented approval from the UCLA
19 Administration. The main counterprotest was led by the Israeli American Council (IAC). By 20 10:30am, there were about 1,000 pro-Israel counter protesters immediately adjacent to our 21 encampment.

22           51.     Counter protesters pushed, spat on, punched, sexually harassed, and yelled slurs at 23 us. They also held up racist and Islamophobic signs. One sign, for example, read “Palestine looks 24 like” and featured a swastika and a scene of a woman being sexually assaulted. At about 2:00 pm, 25 UCPD officers arrived in riot gear. Counter protesters clapped, cheered, and exclaimed “God Bless 26 LAPD!” in response. As UCPD officers file in on the side of the counter-protest, counter protesters 27 chant “L-A-P-D! WE LOVE YOU!” A counter protester yelled through a megaphone, “Let’s leave!
28 It’s their turn now”, thus making way for the police to file in.

1           52.     Later that day, UCLA stood by as the counter protesters set up a jumbotron with 2 extremely loud stadium-sized speakers immediately next to the encampment, without a permit. It
3 remained there through May 2, 2024. This served as a siren song for the mob to assemble—it even 4 gave them a place to do so, from which they eventually launched a violent mob attack on April 30, 5 2024. It also signaled to the mob that UCLA would not interfere with their campaign against the 6 encampment.

7           53.     The jumbotron played a loop of clips of graphic descriptions of rape and sexual
8 violence, sounds of gunshots, screaming babies, clips of President Biden pledging unconditional
9 support for Israel, and extremely loud amplified music, including a loop of the Israeli song ‘Meni
10 Mamtera,’ a children’s song Israeli soldiers used to torture Palestinian captives.

11           54.     At night, the noise and light from the jumbotron made it impossible for encampment
12 members to sleep. During the day, it interrupted teaching and research. The audio could be heard at 13 high volume in classrooms and offices in Kaplan Hall and Haines Hall. Multiple faculty members 14 filed Title IX complaints, including at least one survivor of sexual assault who had to walk by the 15 jumbotron to go to work and felt that the images and audio were triggering. One faculty member 16 reported the jumbotron to two deans and requested that they expedite its removal.

17           55.     UCLA administration knew about the jumbotron and knew that it was inciting even 18 more aggression among violent mob assembling outside the encampment. Administrators were 19 regularly present at the encampment site. Administrative Vice Chancellor Michael Beck visited 20 several times. Beck negotiated with encampment leaders about various safety-related topics and 21 transmitted messages to and from the UCLA administration. Several deans were observed at the 22 encampment site during this period. Throughout these visits, students and faculty alike warned the 23 administrators about the steadily escalating violence against them and the grave danger that it would 24 worsen.<sup>11</sup>

1           56.     UCLA also knew about the jumbotron because UCLA Fire Marshal Ricardo Barboza
2 also regularly visited the encampment to make requests, including about how the encampment was 3 physically organized, all in the shadow of the jumbotron.

4           57.     Representatives from the UCLA Student Affairs and Student Organizations,
5 Leadership, and Engagement (“SOLE”) offices were present nearly continuously during the day and 6 sometimes in the evening, including Mick DeLuca, Philip Goodrich, Kristopher Kaupalolo, and 7 Jason Zeck. Officers from UCPD and private security companies were also present, especially after 8 the first day, and were there all day and night.

9           58.     On April 29, 2024, faculty and students organized a walkout in support of the student
10 demands and their presence in the encampment. The walkout was also in response to UCLA’s 11 failure to protect students from violence from Zionist counter protesters.

12           59.     Faculty gathered at Royce Hall to demand accountability from the UCLA
13 administration. Speeches emphasized solidarity with the encampment and condemned the UCLA 14 administration’s failure to protect students from the harm that had occurred and the danger of 15 further attacks and increasing violence. On information and belief, these speeches were heard by 16 more than one of the UCLA defendants, and the warnings from those speeches regarding the 17 imminent violent attacks were reported to these UCLA defendants. Abandoned, the encampment
18 members had to work to enhance their own safety after increased threats and the University’s 19 refusal to address those threats.

20           60.     That same day, tensions escalated further when a student raised a Palestinian flag
21 atop scaffolding near Powell Library. Police forcibly removed the students, knocking them
22 unconscious during the arrest and denying them immediate medical aid. This police violence drew 23 widespread criticism.

24           April 30, 2024: The Mob Attack

25           61.     At approximately 5 p.m. on April 30, 2024, UCLA declared the encampment
26 unlawful. Despite evidence that violence was almost entirely initiated by the group of counter 27 protesters who would attack the encampment later that night, Chancellor Block framed the 28 encampment as the source of disruption.

1           62.     At approximately 10:30 PM, after UCLA officials' statements throughout the day
2 that made clear the university would not impinge the mob's activity, the mob attacked. An initial 3 group of dozens of men approached the Southeast corner of the encampment, some in Guy Fawkes-
4 like white masks and some draped in Israeli flags. While the loud sound of crying babies played on 5 the jumbotron, these men wielded chemical munitions, hammers, knives, stink bombs, commercial-
6 grade fireworks, baseball bats, and metal and wooden rods.

7           63.     The mob sprayed chemical munitions at encampment members, yanked away boards
8 and metal barricades, and hurled themselves at the encampment. Encampment members thought the 9 mob was shooting at them. Men in full-faced white masks began breaking down the barriers using 10 knives, hammers, and their feet. One, armed with a long metal rod, tried to spear people in the 11 spine. Another member of the mob launched planks of wood into the encampment, striking a young 12 woman in the back of the head.

13          64.     Encampment members witnessed the mob's extreme violence, threats of violence,
14 and UCLA's failure to intervene. They saw people get their heads split open, suffer from open 15 wounds and concussions, scream in pain and fear, with fireworks and mayhem all around them.
16 They heard the racist, anti-Palestinian, Islamophobic insults and the threats of rape. As the mob
17 became more menacing, UCLA private security did nothing—and then fled the area. For hours, 18 encampment members were alone as the mob attacked; private security had left and police had not 19 yet arrived. It was immediately apparent that there was not a semblance of protection for the 20 physical safety of the encampment members, and the mob had successfully transformed a peaceful, 21 interfaith community space into a site of horror.

22          65.     The mob shot multiple incendiary fireworks into the encampment, which was filled
23 with flammable tents. One student frantically used a fire extinguisher to prevent any of the 24 fireworks sparks from setting the tents ablaze.

25          66.     In the first few minutes, and continuing sporadically throughout the hours-long mob
26 attack, attackers sprayed various chemical munitions into the eyes of encampment members.

27          67.     For nearly five hours that night, from approximately 10:30 p.m. until 3:15 a.m., the 28 mob attack raged on. Mob members coordinated their attacks, taking turns spraying irritants at,

1 punching, kicking, spitting on, screaming at, and throwing objects at the bodies of encampment
2 members—from glass bottles to whole six-foot-long metal barricades. They got a running start back
3 on the grass of the Eastern portion of Royce Quad and slammed themselves into part of the 4 encampment's fortifications, dragging out pro-Palestinian protesters to further attack them. When 5 they could make no more progress, they fell back a few yards and regrouped in coordination.
6 Shortly after, they focused their attack on a new part of the encampment. They moved back and 7 forth up and down the barricades, coordinating their actions to launch and relaunch their attacks in 8 an unremitting tirade.

9         68. For many pro-Palestinian protesters, the scene evoked images they had personally
10 experienced in Palestine, with Israeli soldiers standing by menacingly while illegal Israeli settlers
11 attacked or killed Palestinians under their watch.

12         May 1, 2024 to May 2, 2024: The Police Raid

13         69. Less than twelve (12) hours after encampment members survived the violent mob
14 attack, police spent the following day setting the stage for their own raid on the encampment. From 15 the late hours of May 1, 2024, to the early morning of May 2, 2024, law enforcement agencies,
16 including the CHP and LAPD, began their raid on the encampment. Officers targeted barricades 17 with flashbangs, forcibly removing and arresting students, faculty, and community members.
18 Reports detailed severe injuries, including burns, respiratory issues, and head trauma, all caused by 19 excessive police force.

20         70. Pro-Palestinian protesters witnessed the police force's extreme violence and threats
21 of violence against their fellow peaceful protestors. They saw fingers shot off, people dragged and 22 thrown by police, zip ties cut into wrists, and people being threatened with live fire. They knew they 23 were being arrested for their pro-Palestinian activity, not a violation of the law.

24         71. Over 200 individuals were arrested during the raid, and many were subjected to 25 invasive searches, false arrests, sexual assaults, and prolonged detentions. Protesters reported being 26 unmasked and paraded before cameras, their identities exposed without consent. Women wearing 27 hijabs were forced to remove them, infringing on their religious practices.

1           72. By 6:00 AM on May 2, 2024, the encampment had been completely leveled.
2 UCLA’s response drew condemnation from human rights organizations and advocacy groups, who 3 criticized the administration for prioritizing external interest groups over the safety and 4 constitutional rights of its own students and community.

5           73. In the aftermath, student groups continued their advocacy through teach-ins and 6 rallies. The events highlighted systemic issues within UCLA’s administration, including its failure
7 to protect marginalized communities and its complicity in perpetuating structural violence.

8           74. The events at UCLA underscore systemic bias and administrative failure to protect 9 pro-Palestinian advocates from harassment and violence. While the encampment sought to foster 10 dialogue and accountability, the university’s actions reflected a pattern of suppressing dissent and 11 prioritizing interest group pressures over community safety and equity.<sup>12</sup>

12           June 10, 2024: Kettling and Police Shootings

13           75. The organizers of the Palestine Solidarity Encampment advertised a memorial march 14 to begin in the early afternoon on June 10, 2024, to honor the lives of Palestinians in Gaza killed by 15 Israeli Defense Forces since October 7, 2023. The march, with almost 200 participants, started at 16 approximately 2 p.m. next to the Bruin bear sculpture in Bruin Plaza, a central outdoor space for 17 undergraduates and a common site for rallies.

18           76. After several hours and multiple location changes, the marchers arrived in their 19 funeral procession at Shapiro Court, reading the names of those killed in Gaza.

20           77. At approximately 8 p.m., police with batons and 40mm weapons loaded with high-21 speed kinetic impact projectiles—what the police term “less than lethal” munitions—including 22 rubber bullets and pepper bullets, assembled near the marchers.

23           78. As over a hundred protesters made up of students, faculty, and staff attempted to exit
24 from the South side of the courtyard, they were met with another line of UCPD officers who did not 25 allow them to leave.

1           79.     Marchers, all attempting to disperse and avoid physical confrontation with UCPD,
2 were now being dangerously kettled into a very tight space toward the South exit.

3           80.     A UCPD officer yelled at the crowd to move, but there was nowhere to go. Police
4 blocked all means of exit.

5           81.     Police pulled marchers, grabbing arms, legs, and torsos as well as clothing and 6 backpacks. Officers hit marchers with their batons, hands, and feet as they arrested them. Some 7 marchers were choked, attacked, and stepped on by officers.

8           82.     Officers fired the so-called “less lethal” munitions at a student from less than five 9 feet away.

10          83.     Police violently arrested marchers and walked them into Dodd Hall, where they were 11 detained, seated in zip ties against the wall.

12                                   JURISDICTION AND VENUE

13          84.     Jurisdiction is proper under Article VI, § 10 of the California Constitution and under 14 Code of Civil Procedure sections 410, 526, 526a, and 1060.

15          85.     Venue is proper in this Court pursuant to Code of Civil Procedure §§ 393 and 395
16 because the conduct complained of occurred in Los Angeles, and this action proceeds against public
17 officers in Los Angeles for actions taken “in virtue of [their] office.” Code Civ. Proc. § 393(b). The 18 relief sought is within this Court’s power to grant.

19                                   PARTIES

20                                   THE PLAINTIFFS

21          86.     The Plaintiffs are thirty-five people who were devastated by Israel’s genocidal
22 attacks on Palestine, UCLA’s blanket support for them, and UCLA’s investment in companies that 23 profit from mass death and human suffering. They believe in Palestine’s right to self-determination,
24 they want an end to the genocide in Palestine, they want UCLA to divest from companies profiting 25 from it, and they want their freedom of expression to be respected.

26          87.     The Plaintiffs were on UCLA’s campus between April 30 and May 2, 2024, or June 27 10, 2024. They are students and faculty at UCLA, legal observers, journalists, and concerned
28

1 citizens. They are Jewish, Muslim, Christian, atheist, and agnostic. They are Black, white,
2 Palestinian, Arab, South and East Asian, and Latin American.

3 88. All Plaintiffs bring this suit in their individual capacities for injunctive, declaratory,
4 and monetary relief against the Defendants.

5 89. All Plaintiffs have either complied or substantially complied with the Government
6 Claims filing requirements and have administratively exhausted their ability to seek remedies
7 against the California Highway Patrol and the City of Los Angeles.

8 Thistle Boosinger

9 90. Plaintiff Thistle Boosinger is a pro-Palestinian protester. At all relevant times, she 10 was a resident of Los Angeles County.

11 91. Before the violent mob attack on the encampment, Thistle was a Taiko drum
12 musician and taught drumming in music classes and an afterschool program.

13 92. Thistle frequently visited UCLA's campus, enjoying time with her friends and fellow
14 musicians. Before April 30, 2024, Thistle's social community revolved in large part around her 15 drum group, with which she practiced three to four days a week.

16 93. On April 30, 2024, Thistle was helping to distribute masks and other gear at the 17 Palestine Solidarity Encampment when a group of mob members tried to dismantle the 18 encampment's protective structures.

19 94. Thistle reached between the plywood boards and grabbed the metal bike rack UCLA
20 staff had placed around the perimeter of the encampment. As she reached out her hand, members of 21 the mob incited other attackers, yelling, "Hit their hands! Hit their hands!!" A member of the mob
22 hit Thistle's hand repeatedly with a metal rod so hard that it shattered her hand and severed a nerve 23 in her ring finger.

24 95. Thistle was in excruciating pain that night and for many days thereafter. She has had 25 three painful and unsuccessful surgeries on her hand.

26 96. Thistle has ongoing pain as well as reduced mobility and strength in her hand. After 27 each of her three surgeries, Thistle has lost income due to her inability to use her hand. She has not 28

1 been able to play the drums ever since. She can no longer teach music and has been forced to 2 attempt other employment due to her injuries.

3 97. Thistle continues to suffer psychologically, financially, and emotionally to the 4 present day.

5 Roe 1

6 98. Roe 1 is a Palestinian with family in Palestine. During her time at UCLA, Roe 1 was 7 a member of Students for Justice in Palestine, the Middle Eastern Student Association, the Muslim
8 Student Association, and the Psi Chi International Honors Society in Psychology. At all relevant 9 times, Roe 1 was a student at UCLA.

10 99. Roe 1 is the victim of multiple incidents of racist and anti-Palestinian harassment at 11 UCLA because she is Palestinian, including an incident when she was attacked while she was 12 selling keffiyehs. Despite making a formal complaint about this attack, Roe 1 never received an 13 update on this investigation or any other investigation from UCLA.

14 100. Roe 1 was present in the encampment for several days before the mob attacked on 15 April 30, 2024. She saw the evolution of this group from a somewhat small throng of Zionist 16 counter protesters shouting vulgar, racist, and sexualized insults and threats into a massive,
17 overwhelmingly violent, unhinged mob on April 30.

18 101. On April 27, they called her a “baby killer” and a “terrorist” and asked her if she 19 would care if she were raped. On April 28, their threats escalated into physical violence, causing 20 Roe 1 to collapse in a panic attack. On April 29, a group of Zionists surrounded and threatened her,
21 swinging so close to her face that she had another panic attack because of the assault. Roe 1 had 22 multiple panic attacks during this time, whether at the encampment or away from it, due to the 23 menace of this escalating group of counter protesters.

24 102. On the night of April 30, mob members sprayed her with chemical munitions. Her
25 eyes burned as if on fire, and she fell to the ground in immense pain, hyperventilating. Roe 1 felt 26 like she would never be able to open her eyes. At that moment, the mob started attacking the 27 encampment with fireworks. Roe 1 could not see and had to be taken to the encampment’s medical 28 tent.

103. The mob's chemical munition and firework attack was highly traumatizing. The mob attack reminded her of scenes she was familiar with from growing up Palestinian—scenes of illegal Zionist settlers storming the homes of Palestinians while the Israeli military stood by and watched or even facilitated. The mob attackers used the same tactics at UCLA she had seen in Palestine.

104. Roe 1 was also present on June 10, 2024, for an anti-genocide protest on UCLA's campus. Police responded violently, arresting peaceful protesters, kettling them, and shooting protesters with kinetic impact projectiles.

105. Without warning, UCPD officers swarmed Roe 1, lifting her into the air and slamming her violently into the ground. She screamed in terror. As three large police officers kept forcibly shoving her to the ground, she was confused, disoriented, and in serious pain. Despite not being able to move, the officers kept screaming at her, "Stop resisting!" as they zip-tied her.

106. As police pulled her up off the ground, Roe 1 tried to speak, but police shoved her so hard that her head whiplashed forward in extreme pain. She collapsed from the beating, leaving police to carry her limp, folded body up the stairs. Two officers then pushed her up against a wall.

107. Police would not say why she was detained. She demanded access to a lawyer. Police further tightened her zip-ties until her wrists bled. A female officer told her that she would be released if she just provided her name. After she had given her name, a Lieutenant arrived and told her she would be taken to the police station.

108. Police refused to say why she was arrested and locked Roe 1 in a room for around an hour where she was taunted by officers who had previously refused to investigate claims she made.

109. She sustained bruises requiring medical treatment as a result of being violently thrown to the ground and psychological and emotional to this day.

110. Roe 1 continues to suffer psychologically and emotionally to this day, including suffering from panic attacks.

Roe 2

111. Plaintiff Roe 2 is a pro-Palestinian protester who works as a schoolteacher in Los Angeles. He was a lifeguard and had first aid training. At all relevant times, he was a resident of Los Angeles County.

1 112. Roe 2 was appalled by footage of the mob attack on April 30 and, given his first aid
2 knowledge and CPR training, thought he could help people if there were further mob attacks.

3 113. Roe 2 came to the encampment the night of May 1 and was present the police arrived
4 and stormed it, pointing rifles at his face and those around him, terrifying everyone.

5 114. Later police stormed the plywood enclosure the encampment members had erected to 6 protect themselves from the mob assaults. Roe 2 saw the explosions from percussion grenades as 7 they were going off over his head.

8 115. The police, wielding long guns, shot several people in front of Roe 2. Roe 2 was 9 doing nothing to threaten anyone, and the police had no reason to think otherwise. Despite this, an 10 officer aimed what looked like a shotgun directly at him and shot him in the chest. He fell to the 11 ground in pain, watching others get shot while percussion grenades exploded overhead.

12 116. Roe 2's pain, already excruciating, became even more unbearable throughout the 13 night.

14 117. Roe 2 suffered a fractured sternum and a pulmonary contusion. In addition to his 15 physical injuries, Roe 2 continues to suffer psychologically and emotionally to the present day.

16 Faraaz Qureshi

17 118. Faraaz Qureshi, a student and activist, was a peaceful participant in a protest at 18 UCLA on the night of May 1st, 2024, and the early hours of May 2nd, 2024, when the police raided
19 the Palestine Solidarity Encampment.

20 119. At approximately 4:35 a.m., Qureshi was shot four times—once in the right pinky
21 finger, twice in the chest, and once in the back. The impact of the rubber bullet on his finger caused 22 a severe open fracture, breaking the bone into three pieces, dislocating the finger, and causing 23 extensive soft tissue damage. His skin was torn open, exposing bone, and he experienced immediate 24 and intense pain. His finger quickly began to turn blue, indicating possible vascular compromise.
25 The other rounds left contusions and abrasions on his chest and back, causing additional pain and 26 bruising.

27 120. Due to the police barricades preventing emergency medical personnel from entering 28 the protest area, Qureshi had to be evacuated by fellow protesters. He and his friends navigated

1 through bushes, fences, and infrastructure to reach a waiting car, which transported him to the 2 emergency room.

3 121. Upon arrival, doctors initially considered amputating his finger due to the severity of 4 the injury. However, after extensive examination, he underwent a surgical procedure to clean and 5 stabilize the wound. He was treated with IV morphine for pain management and prescribed 6 antibiotics to prevent infection.

7 122. As of his most recent medical evaluation, Qureshi continues to experience significant
8 pain and limited mobility in his finger. He has undergone follow-up appointments with orthopedic
9 specialists and faces the possibility of additional surgeries to restore function to his hand. His 10 injuries have directly impacted his ability to perform daily tasks, and he remains unable to work 11 since the date of the incident.

12 123. Beyond the physical injuries, Qureshi has suffered severe emotional distress. The 13 trauma of witnessing police brutality, coupled with the pain and uncertainty surrounding his 14 recovery, has left him struggling with anxiety and psychological distress. He has also experienced 15 significant disruption to his personal and academic life.

16 Jakob Johnson

17 124. Jakob Johnson is a 2024 graduate of UCLA. During his time at UCLA, he worked at 18 the school library. At all relevant times, she was a resident of Los Angeles County.

19 125. On June 10, 2024, Jakob joined other students and faculty on campus to bear witness
20 to over 46,000 Palestinians who had been martyred or buried under the rubble by Israel's genocidal
21 assault on Gaza.

22 126. The peaceful protesters' funeral march was eventually marshaled by police into a 23 narrow courtyard between two buildings, trapping them there with no way to leave. Jakob and 24 others tried to leave, but they were blocked by police at the south side of the courtyard. As Jakob
25 was trying to find an exit, police quickly advanced on him and others. All of a sudden, Jakob saw a 26 group of UCPD officers violently throw a young woman to the ground just feet away from him, 27 holding her up by her hands while beating her.

1           127. As Jakob pleaded with the police to stop beating her, the police continued to 2 advance, and Jakob noticed one brandishing a gun.

3           128. The police that were advancing continued to yell, “Move back!” while the police
4 behind Jakob and the crowd prevented them from moving anywhere. As the police kettled Jakob
5 and the others, Jakob held both of his hands up in the air and pleaded for the police to stop
6 advancing and to let them leave and disperse safely.

7           129. Jakob was doing nothing to threaten anyone, and the police had no reason to think
8 otherwise. He watched in terror for some twenty seconds as an officer lined up a shot, pointing his 9 weapon directly at his chest. The officer shot Jakob from less than ten feet away. The rubber bullet
10 knocked Jakob to the ground where he was nearly trampled because of the police charge on the 11 trapped crowd. He panicked and went into shock. He felt like he might die right there.

12           130. Although a volunteer medic who was present warned the police that Jakob needed
13 urgent medical attention, the police continued to crush the crowd into a small area, knocking Jakob
14 back down onto the ground twice more.

15           131. After Jakob was carried to safety away from further police attacks volunteer medics
16 cleaned Jakob’s wound and told him to go to the emergency room immediately. At the hospital
17 emergency room, Jakob was coughing up blood and was hospitalized.

18           132. The so-called “less lethal munition” injured Jakob’s heart and lungs and caused an 19 entry wound that did not heal for weeks and permanently scarred him.

20           133. Although Jakob experienced severe depression, UCLA refused him access to the free
21 UCLA Counseling and Psychological Services offered to students.

22           134. Although Jakob had been admitted to law school, in August of 2024, two weeks
23 before classes started, Jakob had to withdraw as he was still reeling from the aftermath of being shot 24 by police.

25           135. In October of 2024, Jewish Voice for Peace organized an on-campus event to 26 observe the Jewish holiday of Sukkot. Jakob was present when a phalanx of UCPD officers in full 27 riot gear charged them, triggering an episode so severe that Jakob had trouble breathing. He 28 continues to suffer psychologically and emotionally to this day.

Jack Kearns

136. Jack Kearns is a 2024 graduate of UCLA where he obtained a Master of Public Policy. Jack was present in the encampment from the day it was established and was there regularly between April 25 and May 2. At all relevant times, he was a resident of Los Angeles County.

137. On the night of April 30, Jack started a shift as part of the safety team at the encampment at 9:00 PM. While things were calm initially, the mob started assembling outside the encampment at around 10:30 PM, playing loud music, and insulting him and people.

138. Jack was on the front lines when the mob launched fireworks into the Palestine Solidarity Encampment and he was sprayed with chemical munitions by the mob. The mob began to violently attack the encampment around midnight.

139. Shortly after seeing another pro-Palestinian protester being assaulted, Jack tried to pull him to safety. As he reached his arms around the other protester, a member of the mob hit Jack in the head with a large piece of wood. Jack fell to the ground, lost consciousness, and was treated by medics. He struggled to stand up, was woozy, and had a hard time seeing.

140. While waiting at the medic tent, he saw the other pro-Palestinian protester who had been beaten by the mob walking up, covered in blood.

141. A fellow protester told Jack he needed to go to the hospital for his head wound. Jack went to a hospital for treatment for his head wound and concussion. After a CT scan and examination, Jack was diagnosed with a concussion. Doctors told Jack he should have an MRI, which he did thereafter.

142. Jack experienced pain, dizziness, and constant headaches for weeks after the brutal attack forcing him to miss work and valuable time in the classroom.

Afnan Khawaja

143. Plaintiff Afnan Khawaja was a fourth-year computer science student at UCLA at the time of the attack. At all relevant times, he was a resident of California.

144. On May 1, 2024, on the UCLA Campus, a violent mob punched and kicked Afnan in the face multiple times while Afnan attempted to rescue another student from the mob, causing cuts to Afnan's lip.

145. Shortly after the mob attacked Afnan without provocation, Afnan retreated behind a barricade, but the mob sprayed a chemical munition and temporarily blinded Afnan multiple times, leaving residual pain and burning in Afnan's hands and face.

146. Minutes later, the mob then dismantled the barricade, and as Afnan tried to recover a piece of the barricade to protect the defenseless students that were being attacked by the violent mob, Defendant Edan On blasted Afnan on the head with a wooden rod, concussing and injuring Afnan.

147. As a direct and proximate result of the attack and Defendants' reckless and negligent conduct, Afnan suffered multiple injuries and damages, the exact amount of which will be determined according to proof at trial.

Dolores Quintana

148. Plaintiff Dolores Quintana is a journalist and the editor of the Century City Westwood News. At all relevant times, she was a resident of Los Angeles County.

149. By the time Dolores arrived to cover the April 30 rioters attacking the encampment, she was already known to them because of her earlier newsgathering. On April 25 she witnessed members of the mob trying to infiltrate the encampment and provoke encampment members, yelling "If you touch us we'll beat your ass!". Encampment members calmly formed a nonviolent human line to protect the encampment and de-escalate the situation until the mob members left. On April 28, a counter protester tore down a pro-Palestinian sign and threw it at Dolores, hitting her in the head while nearby UCLA private security never intervened.

150. The mob accosted Dolores upon her arrival on April 30, aggressively approaching her in such a threatening manner that she fell while backpedaling. As she gathered herself to stand, mob member Edan On, wearing a terrifying white mask, menacingly got within an inch of her face.

151. As On approached her, another member of the mob threatened Dolores, wielding a large chunk of wood just inches from her face. Another member of the mob then shouted in her face with a megaphone and shined a bright LED light in her eyes, blinding her.

152. As Dolores continued to film, Edan On came up behind her and threatened her with a long white pole.

1 153. Dolores also filmed another member of the mob named Eyal Shalom spraying
2 chemical munitions at a pro-Palestinian protester. As Dolores moved backward to escape the cloud
3 of chemical munition Eyal Shalom ran into her. Another member of the mob yelled “Fuck you!” at 4 Dolores and slapped her hand causing her phone to fly several feet away to the ground.

5 154. Around 1:00 AM, Dolores spotted Eyal Shalom moving towards her. Before she 6 could react, a second mob member coordinated with Shalom to distract Dolores by blinding her
7 with a bright light. While she was blinded by the light one attacker shined in her eyes, Shalom
8 sprayed chemical munitions directly into Dolores’ face and eyes at point-blank range. The chemical 9 spray blinded her left eye, and caused excruciating pain, burning her eye and her face.

10 155. Her face was burning, and she could barely breathe. She could not see out of her left
11 eye, and her right eye began to burn and get blurry. As Dolores tried to get away, she heard fellow 12 reporter Catherine Hamilton’s blood-curdling scream from being sprayed with chemical munitions.

13 Catherine Hamilton

14 156. Catherine Hamilton is a fourth-year undergraduate student at UCLA, majoring in 15 gender studies and political science with a minor in professional writing. She is currently a Board
16 Member and Executive Committee Member of the UCLA Communications Board. Catherine is also 17 the Editor in Chief of the UCLA Undergraduate Law Journal, where she previously served as the 18 Managing Editor, Executive Articles Editor, and Editor since 2021. She also served as the News
19 Editor for the Daily Bruin student newspaper for the 2023-2024 academic year and previously held 20 roles as the National News and Higher Education Assistant Editor and Contributor at the paper. At 21 all relevant times, she was a resident of Los Angeles County.

22 157. On Saturday evening, April 27, 2024, Catherine arrived on campus at approximately 23 11:00 PM in her role as a journalist and photographer. Nouri Mehdizadeh---one of the Zionist
24 counter protesters who was present regularly at the encampment---approached Catherine with a
25 group of around ten other people, threatening and assaulting her. Mehdizadeh repeatedly cursed her 26 and took pictures of her press credentials which contained personal identifying information.

27 158. Mehdizadeh grabbed Catherine and struck her. Other mob members shined bright
28 lights directly into her eyes. UCLA private security who witnessed this from nearby did nothing.

1           159. On April 28, 2024, counter protesters, escalating the violence that would eventually
2 lead to the mob attack a few days later, assaulted, harassed, and threatened Catherine while she was 3 newsgathering. UCLA private security again refused to intervene, saying she had put herself at risk
4 by coming to do her job.

5           160. On April 30, 2024, Catherine again returned to cover the encampment. In response to 6 the increasing harassment and assaults on the media, UCLA Media Relations had previously
7 promised and granted all student reporters from The Daily Bruin 24-hour access to Haines Hall for 8 their safety. When Catherine tried to enter the building UCLA's private security denied her access.

9           161. Catherine called UCLA Media Relations to notify them that UCLA's private security
10 had kept her from entering Haines Hall. She warned that she was concerned for her safety as she 11 had been attacked multiple times, and the mob was growing increasingly violent. Despite her 12 repeated calls to UCLA Media Relations over three hours, she was never allowed into the building.

13           162. The mob repeatedly struck Catherine and sprayed her and her reporter colleagues
14 with painful chemical munitions. They also shot fireworks and other incendiaries into the Palestine
15 Solidarity Encampment, burning Catherine's hand and making her fear for her life.

16           163. Mehdizadeh followed Catherine around the perimeter of the Palestinian Solidarity
17 Encampment, yelling at her and terrifying her, coordinating his assaults with other mob members.

18           164. Just after midnight on April 30, Mehdizadeh and other mob members coordinated to 19 physically assault Catherine and her Daily Bruin colleagues. The mob coordinated with Mehdizadeh
20 to block Catherine and her colleagues' path by forming a human wall with outstretched arms,
21 preventing them from moving forward. Suddenly, the mob sprayed an unknown chemical munition
22 directly into Catherine's eyes, causing immense pain and significantly impairing her vision.

23           165. A member of the mob also hit Catherine hard in the chest and knocked one of her
24 colleagues to the ground while screaming racial epithets. As Catherine and her colleagues screamed
25 in pain, nearby UCLA private security did nothing.

26           166. Upon being attacked by Mehdizadeh and the mob, Catherine felt like she was having 27 a panic attack. The pain in her sternum was so intense that she could not stand up. Catherine also 28 could not see anything, and her eyes were in excruciating pain. She asked UCLA private security if

1 they could help her with water for her eyes and if they could help her and her colleagues safely get
2 back to the Daily Bruin office. UCLA private security refused.

3 167. As a result of these attacks, Catherine required hospital treatment and her eyes
4 burned for several days afterward. Similarly, the pain in Catherine's sternum continued for several 5 days, making it hard to even sit up.

6 168. Catherine continues to suffer psychologically and emotionally to this day. She truly
7 believed the mob was going to kill someone that night. She barely goes to campus and minimizes 8 her time there.

9 Roe 8

10 169. Plaintiff Roe 8 is a pro-Palestinian protester and a 3rd year undergraduate student at 11 UCLA who works for the UCLA Library. At all relevant times, they were a resident of Los Angeles 12 County.

13 170. At approximately 8:00 PM on April 25, Roe 8 was at the Palestine Solidarity
14 Encampment, when an older man carrying a large Israeli flag approached them with a group from 15 the Zionist counter protesters. The group was yelling at and threatening the encampment members
16 when the older man with the flag shoved Roe 8 off the ledge onto the ground and kicked Roe 8.
17 Nearby UCLA private security guards did nothing to prevent the attack or help Roe 8.

18 171. As the counter protesters who would later attack the encampment en masse on April 19 30 became more aggressive and violent, they sexually harassed and physically threatened Roe 8.
20 Early one morning while it was still dark, Roe 8 was standing watch at the edge of the encampment
21 when another older man rode his bicycle toward them, threatening to run Roe 8 over and saying he 22 hoped Roe 8 would be raped.

23 172. Roe 8 was present early in the morning of May 2 when police violently attacked the 24 encampment. Police struck Roe with a baton multiple times as they kettled Roe 8 and others.

25 173. Roe 8, who was wearing a keffiyeh, was not threatening anyone and had been 26 completely nonviolent. Despite this, an officer violently grabbed Roe 8 from behind and slammed
27 them to the ground. Multiple officers piled on top, and one shoved Roe 8's face down so hard that it
28 split open their nose. While their nose was bleeding, and their mouth was filled with dirt an officer

1 kneeled on Roe 8's neck and shoulders while another tied zip-ties, so tightly that Roe 8 lost feeling
2 in their fingers, and their hands turned purple.

3 174. While Roe 8 was still bleeding, in pain, and losing circulation in their hands, a male
4 officer unzipped Roe 8's sweatshirt and physically searched them. Instead of a pat-down for 5 weapons, the officer probed deeply, and for quite a long time, into Roe 8's pant pockets. The grope-
6 like "search" was so deep and so prolonged that Roe 8 felt extremely uncomfortable and sexually 7 violated. Roe 8 had no weapons.

8 175. Roe 8 remained on a curb for about an hour, asking one officer with a pair of scissors
9 if he could loosen the zip-ties because Roe 8 was in immense pain. The officer said he could not do
10 anything about it, had no way of cutting them off, and refused to get someone else to help Roe 8.

11 176. A female officer eventually came to confiscate the rest of Roe 8's belongings. While 12 attempting to remove a ring from Roe 8's finger, the female officer noticed that their fingers were 13 purple and so swollen that she could not remove Roe 8's ring. The female officer immediately
14 asked another officer to replace Roe 8's zip ties with a less harmful pair.

15 177. Throughout the hours-long detention Roe 8 was never allowed to use the restroom or 16 given water.

17 178. In addition to suffering a cut and battered face, Roe 8 suffered painful bruises on her 18 torso, arms, and legs that lasted for many days.

19 179. Roe 8 continues to suffer psychologically and emotionally to this day.

20 Shandra Campbell

21 180. Plaintiff Shandra Campbell is a pro-Palestinian protester. She is a member of 22 CodePink, a feminist grassroots organization working to end U.S. warfare and imperialism, support 23 peace and human rights initiatives, and redirect resources into healthcare, education, green jobs, and 24 other life-affirming programs.

25 181. On April 30, 2024, the mob attacked Shandra with chemical munitions, causing her 26 chest and eyes to start burning and then to cough and gag due to her asthma.

27 182. After going to her car to get a mask and goggles for protection, she returned to the 28 encampment to help administer first aid, staying as far from the attackers as possible. She felt like

1 she was in a war zone, but stayed both to render aid and because it was too dangerous to leave until 2 the rioting mob left.

3 183. On the night of the protest on June 10, 2024, A UCPD Lieutenant sexually assaulted
4 Shandra, grabbing and groping her breasts under the pretext of detaining her. Shandra had no
5 weapons and did not pose a threat to the officer or anyone else. There was no reasonable
6 justification for the Lieutenant to grab her in a sexually assaultive manner.

7 184. Shandra continues to suffer psychologically and emotionally to the present day.

8 Roe 6

9 185. Plaintiff Roe 6 is a pro-Palestinian protester. She is a vocalist, songwriter, music
10 producer, and educator. At all relevant times, she was a resident of Los Angeles County.

11 186. On the night of April 29 after 10:00 PM, Roe 6 went to the outer edge of the safety
12 perimeter. Counter protesters, escalating their violence in a ramp-up to their April 30 attack, 13 threatened her and threw water bottles at her.

14 187. On the night of April 30, Roe 6 was present when the mob assembled. Around 11:00
15 PM, they started shooting fireworks into the encampment, one exploding next to her.

16 188. The mob assaulted Roe 6 with chemical munitions twice. The spray was all around
17 the air, making it hard to breathe. This was terrifying as she could not see, was in extreme pain, and 18 struggled to breathe. The chemicals spread all over her hair, skin, and hands. No matter how many 19 times she washed her hands, they wouldn't stop burning, and it was extremely painful.

20 189. A mob member threw a projectile, which struck her left eye, causing excruciating
21 pain. Roe 6 collapsed and was screaming. She was unable to see out of her eye for around twenty 22 minutes and got a black eye. Someone from the camp assisted her and took her to their medical tent, 23 where she got some ice.

24 190. Out of concern that the authorities were not protecting the encampment from violent 25 attacks, Roe 6 remained present on May 1. Roe 6 was unable to get any rest due to the burning and 26 pain from the macing. She went to the medical tent in the morning and had her hands wrapped up.
27 Her hands burned the entirety of May 1.

191. In the early hours of the morning on May 2, police shot flash bangs and rubber bullets.

192. Roe 6 saw the police hitting people with batons. There was a professor next to Roe 6, who was screaming, identifying herself as a professor. This same officer then grabbed Roe 6 by the collar of her jacket and dragged her down to the ground.

193. Police then zip-tied Roe 6 and was detained for hours. During this time, Roe 6 was denied medical treatment for over eight hours, despite numerous requests. She told the police her hands were burning, showed them the wrappings, and repeatedly asked for a medic, but the police denied her requests. They kept telling her she would be treated later.

194. When Roe 6 eventually was treated hours later, she had developed a severe reaction from the chemical munitions and fireworks.

195. Police patted Roe 6 down several times. She had a menstrual pad on and was repeatedly rubbed in her vaginal area. Once before going on the bus, once after getting off the bus, and once before being booked by another female officer. She was patted down yet again by that same officer.

196. After her release, Roe 6 sought medical treatment for her eye.

197. Roe 6 experiences ongoing blurriness in her left eye. In addition to her physical injuries, Roe 6 continues to suffer psychologically and emotionally to the present day.

Angelica Jit

198. Plaintiff Angelica Jit was a community member supporting student protesters at the at the time of the attack. At all relevant times, she was a resident of California.

199. On May 1, 2024, on the UCLA Campus, upon information and belief, Defendant Eliran Bismut or another assailant blasted Angelica in the head with a 2 X 4 wooden plank.

200. The blow to the head caused Angelica to suffer a concussion.

201. As a direct and proximate result of the attack and the Defendants' reckless and negligent conduct, Angelica suffers from physical injuries, PTSD, and damages, the exact amount of which is to be determined according to proof at trial.

202. On May 1, 2024, on the UCLA Campus, upon information and belief, Defendant Eliran Bismut or another assailant blasted Angelica in the head with a 2 X 4 wooden plank.

203. The blow to the head caused Angelica to suffer a concussion.

204. As a direct and proximate result of the attack and the Defendants' reckless and negligent conduct, Angelica suffers from physical injuries, PTSD, and damages, the exact amount of which is to be determined according to proof at trial.

Roe 15

205. Plaintiff Roe 15 was a community member protecting student protesters from the violent mob at the time of the attack. At all relevant times, he was a resident of California.

206. On May 1, 2024, on the UCLA Campus, a violent mob surrounded Roe 15 and began attacking him from every direction.

207. The violent mob threw an object that struck Roe 15 in the face, punched Roe 15, and sprayed him with a chemical munition.

208. Roe 15 suffered a black eye, jaw pain, a swollen nose, and eye pain, all of which took at least two weeks to heal.

209. As a direct and proximate result of the attack and Defendants' reckless and negligent conduct, Roe 15 suffers from physical injuries and damages, the exact amount of which will be determined according to proof at trial.

Roe 9

210. Roe 9 is a graduate student at UCLA, pursuing joint degrees in public health and social welfare. She has organized with Jewish Voice for Peace and is a member of Graduate Students for Justice in Palestine. Roe 9 has engaged in the movement for justice in Palestine for around five years. Roe 9 suffered numerous injuries as a result of UCLA's failure to protect its students against the mob and the police. At all relevant times, she was a resident of Los Angeles County.

211. Roe 9 broke down into tears several times at the encampment. Escalating threats of sexual violence from the counter protesters who would later become a violent mob and the images on the jumbotron increased her fear and apprehension.

1           212. She believed the threat was real and that UCLA would do nothing to protect them,
2 even against bomb threats.

3           213. Roe 9 left the encampment to alert UCLA that “something horrible was going to 4 happen. It’s not a question of if; it’s a question of when.” Fifteen minutes later, Roe 9 received news
5 via text message that the mob was violently attacking the encampment.

6           214. Roe 9 arrived at the encampment on April 30 at approximately 11:15 PM. The 7 experience was “madness.” People were terrified, and the mob caused chaos.

8           215. The mob attacked Roe 9 with chemical munitions repeatedly that night, causing her
9 to gag and vomit. Her eyes were red, her skin felt like it was burning, and she was in significant 10 pain. The effects lasted well into the next day.

11          216. The entire experience was traumatizing. Watching the mob attack and injure her 12 friends and colleagues and the violent images and sounds haunt her to this day.

13          217. On May 1 and 2, 2024, Roe 9 was present when police raided the encampment and 14 violently attacked students and faculty, among other protesters. Roe 9 was terrified as police threw 15 flashbangs into the encampment.

16          218. An officer stood over Roe 9 and aimed his weapon down at her face, threatening to 17 shoot her from less than 2 feet away. She was terrified.

18          219. Police then kettled Roe 9 against a wall with other protesters as police kept 19 advancing, yelling, “Move back!” Roe 9 was at the back of the group, and there was no place for 20 Roe 9 to go. As she pressed herself against the wall, she feared she was going to be crushed as 21 police pressed the crowd tighter and tighter against her. Police arrested and zip-tied Roe 9, injuring 22 her in the process.

23          220. When Roe 9 was finally released from the jail hours later, around 8:30 AM, she was 24 reduced to tears, sobbing uncontrollably. Roe 9 continues to suffer psychologically and emotionally

Roe 10

221. Roe 10 is a PhD candidate at UCLA. He is also a Teaching Fellow, an awarded teacher, and a member of the Graduate Student Union. Roe 10 earned his B.S. in physics from the UC system. At all relevant times, he was a resident of Los Angeles County.

222. Roe 10 was present at the encampment from April 25 until May 2 and served as a member of the safety team.

223. On April 27, 2024, Roe 10 observed a member of the group gathering outside the encampment that would eventually escalate into a mob threatening to set the encampment on fire. Later that evening, a crowd of 30-50 attempted to break into the encampment. After things de-escalated, they retreated to the Royce steps, where they continued blasting noise at the encampment into the late evening.

224. Around noon on April 28, 2024, a small group counter protesters attacked Roe 10 as part of the escalation that eventually grew into a much larger, coordinated, violent attack on April 30. His attacker jumped on Roe 10's back, spun around, and then punched Roe 10 in the face. The group coordinated to help the lead attacker escape.

225. Roe 10 suffered a concussion as a result. He had headaches and trouble focusing for over 24 hours.

226. While on the encampment's safety team that same day, Roe 10 was attacked again, having his arm wrenched behind his back in a painful position.

227. On the evening of April 30 into the morning of May 1, 2024, Roe 10 was present while the mob, now at full strength, attacked the encampment. Throughout the attack, the mob sprayed Roe 10 with chemical munitions many times, causing Roe 10 intense pain and nonstop coughing. Members of the mob pointed a laser pointer into Roe 10's eyes, temporarily blinding him.

228. Roe 10 asked UCLA private security posted nearby if they were going to do anything to protect the encampment against the mob's attack, but the UCLA private security guards ignored him and his pleas for help. Roe 10 was terrified knowing that neither police nor UCLA private security would do anything to help pro-Palestine protesters.

1           229. No one stopped the attackers.

2           230. Later during the day on May 1, Roe 10 again approached UCLA private security to 3 ask them if they were going to intervene as more mob members assembled outside the encampment.
4 UCLA private security laughed at him, ignoring his concerns, despite the mob's violent attack the 5 night before.

6           231. When the police raided the encampment on the morning of May 2, 2024, Roe 10 was 7 doing nothing to threaten anyone, and the police had no reason to think otherwise. Despite this, a
8 police officer hit Roe 10 with open-palm strikes to Roe 10's face and neck, knocking off Roe 10's
9 glasses and causing his throat to clamp shut, making it difficult to breathe. The police officer then 10 grabbed Roe 10's climbing helmet, pulled it down over Roe 10's neck, and dragged Roe 10 to the 11 ground, strangling Roe 10 with the helmet's strap. Roe 10 screamed in pain and worried that he was 12 about to pass out.

13           232. When the police officer stopped strangling him, Roe 10 was lying on the ground in a 14 daze. While on the ground, an officer forced Roe 10's arms behind his back in a painful position
15 and pressed a knee into Roe 10's upper back, causing Roe 10's lungs to feel compressed and 16 making it even more difficult to breathe. When Roe 10 told the officer that he was having trouble
17 breathing, the police officer dismissed him. Police then zip-tied Roe 10 so tightly that it left painful 18 marks on his wrists even after the zip-ties were removed. Police refused to help Roe 10 recover his 19 glasses so he could see.

20           233. Roe 10's shoulders were in immense pain his throat painfully swelled shut, and he 21 lost the ability to speak or whisper. Roe 10 could only mouth words to communicate.

22           234. Eventually, police took Roe 10 to a nurse who failed to conduct a meaningful 23 inspection of Roe 10's injuries, and returned him to the holding cell without treating the swelling in 24 his throat.

25           235. Roe 10 suffered numerous injuries as a result of the police attack and sought medical 26 attention at the hospital. His throat was in pain for several days. Roe 10 also had a large bruise on 27 his leg, and the pain in his leg lasted for three months.

28           236. Roe 10 continues to suffer psychologically and emotionally to this day.

Roe 3

237. In 2024, Plaintiff Roe 3 was a UCLA student affiliated with the Graduate Student Union, and Graduate Students for Justice in Palestine. Roe 3 also received his B.S. from UCLA. At all relevant times, he was a resident of Los Angeles County.

238. Roe 3 was present at the encampment between April 25 and May 2, 2024. He wore a keffiyeh every day at the encampment until it was lost after being sprayed with chemical munitions.

239. On April 28, 2024, Roe 3 attempted to de-escalate tensions and protect a group of pro-Palestinian students near the encampment from an increasingly hostile group of Zionist counter protesters that was gathering. They screamed racist insults at Roe 3, deafened him with bullhorns blasted close to his ears, and shoved him.

240. Roe 3 was working safety when the mob arrived on the evening of April 30. The mob shot fireworks and chemical gas into the encampment in a coordinated fashion, blasted music to terrorize them, and wore masks to hide their identity. Roe 3 feared the mob would kill someone that night. A member of the mob sprayed chemical munitions directly into one of his eyes as he tried to stop the mob's attempts to attack the encampment. Roe 3's eye burned intensely.

241. Around midnight on April 30, Roe 3 encountered a group of around 30 to 40 mob members attempting to storm into the encampment by force. Fearing for the safety of the encampment, Roe 3 and others rushed over and formed two lines of people to non-violently prevent the mob from entering. The mob threatened Roe 3 with racial slurs and shoving Roe 3.

242. Throughout the early morning hours of May 1, multiple smaller groups of the mob threatened and attempted to enter the encampment throughout the night, preventing Roe 3 from getting to sleep until around 6:00 AM.

243. Roe 3 was present during the police raid of the encampment on the evening of May 1 through the early morning of May 2. When the police arrived, the mob cheered for them and chanted "USA! USA!"

244. He was afraid when the police fired numerous flash-bangs at the encampment and saw police point their less-lethal weapons at the crowd and fire into it.

245. To this day, Roe 3 continues to suffer psychologically and emotionally as a result of being attacked by the mob and the police.

Roe 14

246. Plaintiff Roe 14 was a fourth-year Biomedical Engineering student at UCLA at the time of the attack. At all relevant times, he was a resident of Los Angeles County.

247. On May 1, 2024, on the UCLA Campus, Roe 14 was providing volunteer medical services to student victims of the violent mob attack when a thug donning a black hoodie sweatshirt and a red bandana knocked Roe 14 unconscious with two blows to Roe 14's head using a 2 X 4 wooden plank.

248. Roe 14 remained unconscious for approximately 5 minutes and shortly after regaining consciousness, the violent mob sprayed Roe 14 with a chemical munition, blinding him. Roe 14's head bled profusely and Roe 14's eyes burned.

249. Roe 14 was later transferred to the ER with two head contusions. Emergency physicians diagnosed Roe 14 with a concussion.

250. As a direct and proximate result of the attack and Defendants' reckless and negligent conduct, Roe 14 suffers from physical injuries, PTSD, and damages, the exact amount of which will be determined according to proof at trial.

Binyamin Moryosef

251. Plaintiff Binyamin Moryosef is a 4th-year Jewish undergraduate student at UCLA and is employed by the university. He is a College Corps Fellow at UCLA and volunteers with 826LA, an after-school tutoring and writing program for students ages 6 to 18. At all relevant times, he resided in Los Angeles County.

252. As the son of an Israeli immigrant and ethnically Jewish, Binyamin was looking for the chance to act and was moved by the encampment's expression of solidarity with the suffering of the Palestinian people. He was present at the encampment in the days leading up to April 30, 2024.

253. On April 30, Binyamin arrived at the encampment around 10:00 PM to volunteer as a member of the safety team. Upon his arrival, Binyamin experienced the mob attacking the

1 encampment in a coordinated fashion with fireworks. Benjamin was terrified by the violence of the 2 mob's attack which reminded him of the Israeli military's genocidal attacks in Gaza.

3 254. Binyamin returned to the encampment later in the day on May 1. The experience of 4 being attacked by police flash-bangs was extremely distressing. When police raided the 5 encampment on May 2, they brandished weapons forcefully shoved Binyamin, and made him feel 6 like he was being treated worse than an animal.

7 255. On June 10, 2024, Binyamin joined other students on campus to bear witness to over
8 46,000 Palestinians who had been martyred or buried under the rubble by Israel's genocidal assault
9 on Gaza. Police surrounded the protesters who were shouting "Let us out!" and tried to leave.

10 256. Binyamin was doing nothing to threaten anyone, and the police had no reason to 11 think otherwise. Without giving a notification of dispersal, police physically attacked Binyamin,
12 attempting to wrestle him to the ground. Without giving him any explanation, police violently 13 grabbed Binyamin and zip-tied him, forcing his arm into an excruciatingly painful position and 14 causing him to breathe heavily. The pain was overwhelming and unbearable. Binyamin pleaded 15 multiple times for the police to lessen the strain of the zip-ties that were causing him so much pain, 16 only to be ignored.

17 257. Binyamin continues to suffer psychologically and emotionally to the present day.

18 James (Jimi) Peric Degen

19 258. Plaintiff James Peric Degen (Jimi) graduated from UCLA School of Law in 2024.
20 During law school, he was a member of Law Students for Justice in Palestine, the Labor and 21 Employment Law Association, the National Lawyers Guild, and the Afghan Scholars Humanitarian 22 Parole Project. Jimi co-founded the UCLA chapter of the Peoples Parity Project and, as a student
23 advocate in the International Human Rights Litigation Clinic at the Promise Institute, Jimi assisted 24 Iranian immigrants arbitrarily detained after 9/11. Jimi graduated from West Point in 2012 and 25 served as an officer in the Army for eight years before attending law school. At all relevant times, 26 he was a resident of Los Angeles County.

27 259. During his time serving in the military, Jimi became aware of how the United States
28 government's and other US institutions' blanket support for Israel contributed to the oppression of 1 Palestinians. This awareness motivated him to go to law school to work in human rights and join the 2 movement for justice in Palestine.

3 260. Jimi grew concerned about the escalating violence by the mob and the lack of 4 protection being provided by UCLA and the police. Jimi showed up a little before midnight on 5 April 30 to serve as a volunteer Legal Observer and document the violations of the rights of the 6 encampment members alongside Plaintiff Isabella Lee.

7 261. While documenting the mob attack and the police's and UCLA private security's
8 failures to intervene, one mob member threatened Jimi with a baseball bat or pole-like object. The 9 mob also sprayed Jimi with chemical munitions multiple times. Even though Jimi had undergone 10 tear gas training during his time in the military, the chemical munition caused him immense pain
11 and discomfort, which continued to irritate his ears, nose, throat, and lungs for several days.

12 262. Jimi and Isabella both wore bright green hats identifying themselves as Legal 13 Observers. At one point a mob member pointed at Jimi and Isabella, telling other mob members that 14 the pair was a part of the encampment. As Jimi turned his back on the mob to face the police,
15 someone from the mob threw a metal water bottle striking Jimi in the back of the head, knocking 16 the hat off his head, causing him pain, and leaving him feeling shocked and woozy.

17 263. Moments later a mob member threw another water bottle that struck Isabella in the 18 head. When Isabella turned to ask who had assaulted her, a group of mob members swarmed her.
19 Within seconds, they were surrounded by about a dozen male mob members, many of whom Jimi
20 had witnessed committing acts of violence against the encampment. When Jimi attempted to shield
21 Isabella from the attack, the mob coordinated their attack and started shoving Jimi, pushing him
22 away from Isabella down a hill, calling him a "faggot."

23 264. When Jimi began to film the mob, one mob member started throwing shadow
24 punches at Jimi, while another snatched Jimi's phone out of his hand from behind. The mob opened
25 a pathway for the phone thief to slip away, while other mob members grabbed Jimi, preventing him
26 from following the phone thief. One mob member taunted Jimi saying they would give Jimi back
27 his phone when Jimi gave back their "hostages."

265. UCLA private security did nothing during this attack, refusing to come to his aid during his assault and robbery.

266. Around 3:45 AM on May 1, Jimi observed police in full riot gear push a group of encampment students back and appear to detain them near the flagpole, where they then let the mob scream in the students' faces and threaten them. As the police stood back and laughed, Jimi intervened to de-escalate the situation by forming a non-violent human wall between the students and the mob. One of the mob members got inches from Jimi's face, threatening and screaming at Jimi while the police looked on and again did nothing to intervene. After several minutes of this, the police finally allowed the students to leave without explanation.

267. Jimi suffered numerous injuries from the mob as well as the police's and UCLA's failure to protect him.

268. Jimi continues to suffer psychologically and emotionally to the present day.

Isabella Lee

269. Plaintiff Isabella Lee graduated from UCLA School of Law in 2024 where she was a Leadership Fellow for the People’s Parity Project, which she co-founded at UCLA. She was also the Co-Chair of the Labor and Economic Justice Clinic, a member of the National Lawyers Guild (“NLG”), a member of Law Students for Justice in Palestine, a student in the Human Rights Litigation Clinic, and a Senior Editor for the UCLA Law Review. At all relevant times, she resided in Los Angeles County.

270. Before law school, Isabella served as an NLG Legal Observer (“Legal Observer”) during the movement for George Floyd protests around southern California in the summer of 2020. When the encampment started, Isabella volunteered to serve as a Legal Observer to help ensure the fundamental rights of encampment members to assembly and expression were protected.

271. Just after 11:00 AM on April 28, 2024, Isabella observed a man draped in an Israeli flag, hit a pro-Palestinian protester with a large wooden flagpole within eyesight and earshot of UCLA administrators who did nothing to intervene. Shortly thereafter a mob member began screaming in Isabella's face to stop filming, when an older mob member threatened Isabella, saying

1 “I’m going to punch you! Believe me!” A concerned pro-Palestinian protester stepped in and de-
2 escalated the situation.

3 272. Later on, a different mob member repeatedly thrust her body into Isabella, while 4 screaming at pro-Palestinian protesters through a megaphone. Isabella pleaded with the woman to 5 stop, but she ignored Isabella. After communicating with other Legal Observers, all fearing for their 6 safety, Isabella relocated atop a hill to observe the protest from a distance.

7 273. On April 30, 2024, Isabella arrived at the encampment around 10:00 PM. After 8 observing increasingly threatening behavior from the mob, she entered the encampment to gather
9 information about the threats and slurs yelled by the mob and to wait for her fellow Legal Observer,
10 Plaintiff James (Jimi) Peric Degan, to arrive so she could more safely observe the perimeter in a 11 pair. Suddenly, Isabella heard screaming near the front of the safety barricades and ran to start
12 documenting. As she arrived at the perimeter of the encampment, a member of the mob sprayed 13 Isabella with a chemical munition. Her eyes were stinging and burning intensely. Isabella was 14 choking and coughing uncontrollably. She felt like she couldn’t breathe.

15 274. Isabella then saw a flaming projectile fly over her head land inside the encampment
16 and explode. She heard screams and cries for medics as the mob sprayed more chemical munitions.

17 275. When the police arrived, Isabella observed the mob stop their attack for a moment, 18 but when police demonstrated they would not intervene, the mob resumed and doubled-downed on 19 their violent attack. Together Isabella and Jimi documented the mob engaging in multiple assaults 20 on the encampment and its members in the presence of UCLA private security and the police (who 21 were both on the ground and in helicopters). Neither UCLA’s private security nor the police took 22 any steps to intervene or stop the violent attack.

23 276. At one point Isabella observed riot police form a line near the flagpole. Mob
24 members who had been violently attacking the encampment began to cheer for the police, chanting 25 “Mission Accomplished!” and “USA! USA!” One leader of the mob proclaimed over the 26 megaphone: “Our job here is done! Let the police finish the job!”

27 277. While documenting this scene, one of the mob members threw a metal water bottle
28 striking Jimi in the head. Moments later, a mob member threw another water bottle striking Isabella

1 in the back of her head, causing her pain. Within seconds a group of hostile mob members then
2 swarmed Isabella and Jimi and began threatening them.

3 278. When the mob separated Isabella from Jimi in a coordinated fashion, she began to 4 panic. Her heart was racing out of control. She felt like she was leaving her body. At that moment,
5 Isabella was terrified that the mob of violent men was going to physically and sexually assault her.
6 As the mob closed in around Isabella and taunted her, Defendant Jared Rubin flashed a strobe light
7 in her eyes, disorienting her, and Defendant Daniel Khalili blasted a megaphone in her ears.
8 Another member of the mob wearing a Dodgers jacket, Rony Abishoor tried to yank Isabella's
9 phone out of her hand and started screaming, "She touched my penis!"

10 279. At no point did UCLA's private security or the police intervene to stop Isabella from 11 being attacked and sexually harassed by the mob.

12 280. A few minutes later, Isabella saw a mob member wearing Jimi's bright green Legal 13 Observer hat that had been stolen earlier. When she tried to follow the thief to retrieve the hat, a 14 group of mob members blocked her so the thief could run away.

15 281. Isabella turned her attention back to a line of riot police who had moved in and 16 pushed a group of encampment students out into the street near the flagpole where they appeared to 17 detain them and allow the mob to harass and threaten them. While filming this scene, a female mob
18 member accosted Isabella threatening to steal Isabella's phone and yelling "Shut the fuck up, 19 bitch!" in plain view of the police standing nearby, who do nothing to intervene.

20 282. Soon after her harrowing experience, Isabella sent a letter to the Dean of UCLA
21 School of Law on May 4, 2024, asking for urgent safety accommodations for law students required
22 to take their finals on campus in person. Isabella's email also asked for a meeting to relay her
23 experience of being attacked on UCLA's campus and her concerns with the police and UCLA's
24 failure to protect students. The Dean delayed meeting with Isabella until well into the summer.
25 When Isabella was finally granted a meeting with the Dean, the Dean told her, coldly, that he could 26 not say anything in response about what had happened.

27 283. Isabella continues to suffer psychologically and emotionally to this day. She has 28 experienced panic attacks, anxiety, uncontrollable crying, insomnia, and nightmares following the

1 attacks by the mob, and UCLA's and the police's failure to protect her. She no longer feels safe on 2 UCLA's campus.

3 Roe 4

4 284. Roe 4 is a PhD candidate at UCLA and teaches as a graduate assistant. Roe 4 is also
5 active on campus, supporting many student organizations. He received his undergraduate degree
6 from a UC, where he conducted research and was a member of Students for Justice in Palestine. At 7 all relevant times, he was a resident of Los Angeles County.

8 285. Roe 4 was present at the Palestine Solidarity Encampment starting on April 25, 2024.
9 He experienced near-constant harassment, verbal abuse, and threats from the mob, and suffered 10 numerous injuries as a result of UCLA's failure to protect its students against the mob and the 11 actions of the police.

12 286. On the night of Sunday, April 28, 2024, Nouri Mehdizadeh was harassing the 13 encampment by blasting music used by Israelis for torture and brandishing a knife while attempting 14 to cut through part of the safety barricades. When Mehdizadeh acknowledged that he had a knife,
15 Roe 4 yelled for the help of UCLA private security stationed nearby and informed them
16 Mehdizadeh had a weapon. UCLA private security refused to intervene or otherwise help protect 17 those in the encampment.

18 287. On the night of Tuesday, April 30, 2024, the mob sprayed him with chemical 19 munitions, causing severe pain. For nearly an hour, the pain was so bad Roe 4 could not open his 20 eyes.

21 288. As Roe 4 was being treated by encampment medics, the mob shot fireworks into the 22 encampment. Roe 4 heard the screams of people being attacked and began transporting injured
23 members of the student encampment to the medic area. Throughout the attack, Roe 4 was hit with 24 chemical munitions. Roe 4 suffered from lung pain and bronchitis for about eight weeks after being 25 attacked with chemical munitions.

26 289. During the police raid of the encampment in the early morning hours of May 2, 27 2024, Roe 4 was doing nothing to threaten anyone, and the police had no reason to think otherwise.
28

1 Despite this, a police officer aimed their weapon directly at Roe 4. Roe 4 ducked to protect himself
2 just before the officer fired their weapon and shot a person standing behind Roe 4.

3 290. Roe 4 was present on June 10, 2024, for the anti-genocide protest on the UCLA
4 campus. Roe 4 asked the police if he could leave, and the police told him he should exit on the other
5 side of the protest, but UCLA private security blocked Roe 4 and others from exiting in that area.
6 Despite this, police kept pushing the crowd of protesters back, and it was beginning to feel very 7 dangerous. Roe 4 asked if he could speak to the commanding officer, and the police said he could
8 not and to keep backing up to leave the area. Without giving a notification of dispersal, police
9 officers then arrested Roe 4 while laughing and taunting him.

10 291. Roe 4 continues to suffer psychologically and emotionally to the present day. Loud
11 noises, such as fireworks and babies' screams, are extremely upsetting and disruptive to Roe 4's 12 everyday life.

13 292. Roe 4 and his family have suffered other injuries stemming from the attack. Roe 4
14 has received numerous hate emails and threats, and attempts to get him fired from his job. Roe 4's 15 personal information was leaked along with his parents' and sister's information. His parents have 16 received many harassing and threatening phone calls.

17 Dr. Aaron Palmer

18 293. Dr. Aaron Palmer was an Assistant Adjunct Professor in the Mathematics
19 Department at UCLA from 2021 to 2024. He graduated from UC Santa Cruz in 2010 with a dual 20 degree in Math and Physics and received his PhD in Math from Cornell University in 2016. Aaron 21 is also a current participant in the long program on non-commutative optimal transport with the 22 Institute for Pure and Applied Math at UCLA. At all relevant times, he was a resident of Los 23 Angeles County.

24 294. As an American Jew, Aaron was deeply offended by the weaponization of anti-
25 semitism by the United States government and Israel to justify their genocide of the Palestinians and 26 by UCLA to suppress pro-Palestinian speech and activism.

295. On June 10, 2024, Aaron joined other students and faculty on campus to bear witness to over 46,000 Palestinians who had been martyred or buried under the rubble by Israel's genocidal assault on Gaza.

296. As Aaron and other students and faculty congregated at Dodd Hall on the UCLA campus, police encircled the students and faculty, trapping them in place. Without issuing a dispersal order, police physically attacked Aaron and the other students and faculty present.

297. Police beat Aaron with batons during his arrest and zip-tied him so tight that they left painful red marks on his wrists long after they were removed. At one point, Aaron asked an officer to loosen the zip-tie on one of his wrists that was causing the most pain. The officer refused.

298. Aaron was scared to go to campus days later after being beaten by police and seeing other faculty, students, and community members being beaten. Combined with the lack of protection by UCLA, Aaron experiences feelings of isolation and fear each time he passes Dodd Hall because of the intimidation and violence he experienced on June 10.

Mahmoud Alnaouq

299. Plaintiff Mahmoud Alnaouq is a Palestinian-American protester and a student at UCLA. Mahmoud has won numerous awards from UCLA for his service, leadership, and humanitarianism. At all relevant times, he was a resident of Los Angeles County.

300. As a Palestinian, Mahmoud has lost family members and friends to Israel's genocide in Gaza. He was demoralized by the discrimination that Palestinians and those advocating for Palestinians experienced at UCLA.

301. On June 10, Mahmoud was present for less than an hour at the funeral march, when police suddenly blocked everyone's exit, trapping him. Mahmoud never heard the police give a warning or dispersal order.

302. As police backed Mahmoud and a group of protesters into a corner, police officers severely beat two men, one of whom was a colleague. Witnessing the escalating violence by police, Mahmoud appealed to Corporal Adams, the highest-ranking police officer there, to get the police under control. He warned that the police were going to cause serious injuries if they continued to use excessive force on this trapped crowd.

303. Sergeant Strawberry aggressively approached Mahmoud, who was peacefully protesting, and violently yanking his arm, causing immense pain. Strawberry also ripped a Palestinian flag off of Mahmoud's bracelet.

304. Mahmoud was then told for the first time that he was part of an illegal gathering and took him inside Dodd Hall. An officer cut the straps of Mahmoud's backpack and removed his wallet. After about two and a half hours of further detention, an officer finally cut his zip ties and released him. Mahmoud had painful red marks, cuts, and bruises on his wrists for days.

305. Mahmoud had serious pain in his right shoulder from when Sergeant Strawberry violently attacked him. Mahmoud sought treatment for his injuries. To this day, Mahmoud continues physical therapy exercises.

306. After being violently assaulted by police, Mahmoud did not feel safe living in his UCLA housing. He had nightmares of police raiding his home and did not feel comfortable being on campus. Mahmoud continues to suffer psychologically and emotionally to the present day.

Joseph Murphy

307. Plaintiff Joseph Murphy is a 2026 PhD candidate at UCLA working as a teaching assistant in the School of Sociology. At all relevant times, he was a resident of Los Angeles County.

308. As a member of UCLA's Graduate Student Union, Joseph was also opposed to the violent police raid on the Palestine Solidarity Encampment and UCLA's general mistreatment of pro-Palestinian protesters. Joseph felt compelled to help protect fellow students, knowing that UCLA had failed to do so previously, and instead had punished pro-Palestinian activism.

309. On June 10, 2024, police attacked protesters without giving any dispersal order in that area, trapping Joseph and everyone inside. People started to panic, and many tried to leave, but the police blocked them, yelled “Get back!” and physically pushed and crushed them inside.

310. Police kettled protesters, forcing them into a small space with no exit. While standing in place, shielding the small woman from the attacking police, a police officer grabbed Joseph by the legs from behind, forcing him violently to the ground. Joseph tried to catch his breath while an officer yelled at him to put his hands behind his back.

311. Joseph did not resist. However, when the officer tried to force Joseph's left arm behind Joseph's back at an impossible angle, causing an immense amount of pain, Joseph readjusted his arm. Despite complying with the arrest, the police yelled at him to "Stop resisting!"

312. Police put zip-ties on so tight it caused Joseph pain, and they later had to replace them. Joseph has scarring from his injuries that persist to this day. Joseph's hand was badly cut and had been bleeding for a while. An officer asked Joseph if he had HIV or syphilis and forced him to sit with his still-bleeding hand zip-tied behind his back.

313. After processing Joseph, the police asked Joseph to sign his citation. He asked if he could have a glove or otherwise treat his bleeding hand. Police gave him a glove so he could sign his citation without getting blood on the pen.

Graeme Blair

314. Plaintiff Graeme Blair is a pro-Palestinian protester and an associate professor of political science at UCLA, where he has taught since 2016. He is the recipient of awards, including the Leamer-Rosenthal Prize for Open Social Science, the Society for Political Methodology's best statistical software award, and the best book award from the American Political Science Association Experiments Section. Graeme has published two books and numerous articles in peer-reviewed journals, including on subjects of violence and policing. At all relevant times, he was a resident of Los Angeles County.

315. Graeme is opposed to Israel's occupation of Palestine and UCLA's refusal to cut ties with Israeli universities that sustain the occupation. As a faculty member, he also believes that the teaching mission of the university extends beyond the classroom—including protests—and that protecting student speech and conscience is important for our society, not just campus life.

316. As a member of the Faculty for Justice in Palestine at UCLA, Graeme was present at the Palestine Solidarity Encampment multiple days from April 25 until his violent arrest on May 2.

317. At approximately 11:00 AM on April 25, Graeme was supporting the safety team for the encampment near the fountain where Zionist counter protesters had gathered to harass and assault pro-Palestinian protesters. One counter protester who was a UCLA faculty member physically assaulted Graeme, pushing him around at the gate to the encampment. Others yelled

1 obscenities, threats, and insults at Graeme and his colleagues, at times within inches of Graeme and 2 other pro-Palestinian protesters. Later, the group of counter protesters escalated further, trying to 3 enter the encampment by breaking down safety barricades.

4 318. Graeme was physically threatened by their attempt to enter and had to stand in a line
5 of students to help protect the encampment because UCLA's private security would not help protect 6 them. Over the next several days, UCLA private security allowed violent and threatening counter
7 protester attack pro-Palestinian encampment members.

8 319. On April 28, the group of counter protesters continued to escalate, previewing what 9 would become the full-fledged mob attack on April 30. They insulted and threatened Graeme, 10 calling him a "murderer." As the attackers became more aggressive and threatening, Graeme and 11 other faculty exited the encampment and attempted to de-escalate the tensions. The attackers
12 responded to these peaceful acts by assaulting Graeme and his colleagues, shoving them repeatedly.

13 320. On April 30, 2024, Graeme attended a call between the UCLA FJP and SJP chapters, 14 where students said that they felt very unsafe at the encampment and requested that the faculty help
15 support them, especially at night. Graeme signed up to serve as a faculty representative that night.
16 Before he was scheduled to be at the encampment, Graeme received a text informing him that a 17 mob was amassing and threatening the encampment.

18 321. Graeme arrived at the encampment shortly after 10:30 PM to see the mob violently
19 attack the encampment. Graeme tried to get the UCLA administration to help stop the violent mob
20 attack. At times, he was terrified when there was no protection between himself and the attacking 21 mob.

22 322. The mob sprayed chemical munitions into the encampment, temporarily blinding
23 Graeme and causing him to fall to the ground in extreme pain. Graeme experienced intense burning
24 in different parts of his face and eyes for nearly 30 minutes. Despite receiving medical attention
25 from a member of the encampment, the burning remained very painful for hours. At around 6:00
26 AM on May 1, Graeme's face was still burning.

27 323. Graeme watched as California Highway Patrol (CHP) officers eventually arrived and 28 got down on one knee. Having seen photos of the police massacring students at Kent State, where

1 police were similarly positioned on one knee, Graeme became more terrified than he had ever been
2 in his entire life—fearing that he was about to be killed by CHP.

3 324. Graeme returned to campus later on May 1 to speak at a press conference with other 4 UCLA faculty and conduct interviews. Around 2:00 PM, Graeme entered the encampment. From 5 about 6:00 PM onward, Graeme was terrified that police would violently attack the encampment.
6 Police formed large columns and marched around nearby. Graeme saw on social media that there
7 were police snipers on top of the roof of Powell, and he saw police peering out of Royce Hall.
8 Graeme called on UCLA administrators not to send in the police since they would be violent.

9 325. At or around 1:30 AM on May 2, Graeme did a live interview on CNN as police
10 further amassed at the encampment. Graeme formed a line with others holding a banner identifying 11 them as UCLA faculty in the hope that they could help protect UCLA students from police 12 violence.

13 326. Police arrested Graeme and forced him to sit under a tree at the northeast corner of 14 the encampment in an extremely painful position with his arms locked behind his back. Police 15 transferred Graeme to a Sheriff's facility around 8:00 AM in a vehicle without seatbelts, while he 16 remained zip-tied in an extremely painful position.

17 327. Graeme continues to suffer psychologically and emotionally to this day. He was 18 diagnosed with PTSD after the events of April 30 and May 1 by a clinical psychologist at UCLA.

19 Roe 5

20 328. Plaintiff Roe 5 is a Professor at UCLA and earned her PhD from UC San Diego.
21 Apart from being a teaching assistant, she organized with communities facing economic and social 22 challenges. At all relevant times, she was a resident of Los Angeles County.

23 329. Throughout her academic career, Roe 5 has participated in nonviolent protests at 24 immigrant detention centers and actions in support of Black Lives Matter.

25 330. Roe 5 was present at the encampment daily from April 25 to May 1, 2024. On April 26 25, 2024, Roe 5 arrived at the encampment around 7:00 AM, bringing breakfast but left to teach
27 class afterward. When she returned that night, Roe 5 was part of a safety team to protect peaceful 28 encampment members from Zionists threatening violence from entering the encampment.

1           331. This group included Eli Tsives, a young mob member wearing an “Israeli Defense
2 Forces” shirt. He aggressively approached her and attempted to intimidate her. She left the 3 encampment around 10:00 PM that night.

4           332. On April 28, 2024, Roe 5 arrived at the encampment around 8:00 AM. She attended
5 de-escalation and know-your-rights training and agreed to join the group stationed by the Jumbotron
6 set up by the increasingly violent counter protesters. Throughout the day, they insulted and taunted
7 Roe 5 and others. Eventually, Roe 5 joined two other UCLA faculty members to de-escalate. A
8 counter protester hit her with a wooden flagpole repeatedly and blasted a megaphone near her ears,
9 a precursor to the violent attack that would occur on April 30. Roe 5 left the encampment that night
10 around 2 hours after the Zionist rally ended.

11           333. On April 29, 2024, Roe 5 arrived at the encampment in the morning. She witnessed a 12 student being violently arrested around 10:00 AM while on top of the scaffolding on the East end of 13 Powell Library while attempting to place a Palestinian flag on the scaffolding. Witnessing the police 14 attack a student was very traumatizing for Roe 5.

15           334. In response to the escalating violence by the counter protesters, Roe 5 agreed to 16 serve as part of the safety team for the encampment. On April 30, 2024, she went to bed at home
17 around 9:00 PM but was awakened at 11:00 PM by her partner, informing her that she needed to 18 return immediately because a violent mob was attacking the encampment.

19           335. As Roe 5 arrived at the encampment sometime after 11:00 PM, she saw hordes of 20 people descending on the campus and police helicopters hovering overhead. She joined the safety
21 team next to the perimeter on the east side of the encampment where the mob was violently 22 attacking.

23           336. Roe 5 spent hours at the perimeter trying to keep the mob from tearing down the 24 safety barricades and trying to block projectiles thrown by the mob into the encampment. She 25 witnessed the mob repeatedly smash Plaintiff Thistle Boosinger’s hand. Witnessing this scene
26 caused Roe 5 emotional trauma.

337. Before Roe 5 could determine if Thistle was safe, someone shouted “tear gas!” as the mob hit her with chemical munitions. She felt like she was suffocating and needed to vomit. The mob also sprayed chemical munitions in Roe 5’s eye.

338. Eventually, Roe 5 joined other faculty outside of the encampment. As she attempted to de-escalate the attacks by the mob, the mob tried to spray her and other faculty members.

339. At 4:00 AM on May 1, Roe 5 took up her shift with the safety team inside the encampment. Despite the police presence, mob members were still trying to ram down the entrances to the encampment, climbing the scaffolding, and attempting to enter the encampment, while the jumbotron erected by the mob blasted extremely loud and annoying music, tormenting the encampment.

340. Since the night of the mob attack, Roe 5 has dealt with serious medical issues that impact her life. Immediately following the mob attack, she canceled classes and could not go to campus. The sight of police and the sound of helicopters cause her terrible anxiety. She cannot be in places with a lot of people and she cannot be near loud noises. She still finds it difficult to return to the UCLA campus and must take anxiety medication to sleep.

Roe 11

341. Roe 11 was born to a Palestinian father who was ethnically cleansed from his ancestral home in Acre, Palestine, during the 1948 Nakba. Roe 11 grew up as a refugee in Lebanon before moving to the United Kingdom and eventually the United States. At all relevant times, she was a resident of Los Angeles County.

342. Roe 11 has two daughters who attended UCLA. Her youngest daughter graduated in 2024 and was a member of the Palestine Solidarity Encampment.

343. On April 25, Roe 11 was present when Jewish students hosted a Seder service in the encampment and educated other protesters on anti-Zionism. Roe 11 was surprised by the lack of protection of the encampment given the presence of outside Zionist agitators who were ripping down posters and threatening the encampment.

344. On April 26, Roe 11 participated in more teach-ins at the encampment and was harassed and threatened by outside Zionist agitators.

345. On April 27, Roe 11 arrived at the encampment around 11:30 PM. When she arrived, she was insulted by outside Zionist agitators who were screaming obscenities. They were blaring loud music—the same music that illegal Israeli settlers in the West Bank have used during their violent raids of Palestinian homes and the same music anti-Palestinian Israelis used when blocking humanitarian aid trucks from entering Gaza.

346. Roe 11 returned to the encampment on April 30. She was sprayed with chemical munitions by the mob while UCLA private security stood by watched the violence, and allowed the mob to continue their attack. Roe 11 called the UCLA Police Department and public safety several times to request help. When she called the UCLA Police Department, officials hung up on her.

347. The mob relentlessly attacked the encampment that night. Roe 11 felt like she was in a war zone. She provided care to multiple injured encampment members. To this day, Roe 11 cannot get the terrifying sights and sounds out of her head of the young people in the encampment being attacked, and no one from UCLA or the police coming to help.

348. On May 1, Roe 11 complained to the UCLA Police Department, informing them that her daughter was a UCLA student, that she left her daughter in UCLA's care, and that UCLA did nothing to protect her daughter while the outside Zionist agitators violently attacked the encampment for hours.

349. Roe 11 returned to the encampment later in the day on May 1. When the police attacked the encampment with flash-bangs, she again felt like she was in a war zone, this time under attack from the militarized police. She heard nonstop screams, and it was terrifying. Knowing that she could no longer help, she left the encampment and helped get others to safety before the police could attack them.

350. Roe 11 continues to suffer psychologically and emotionally to the present day.

Lubna Hammad

351. Plaintiff Lubna Hammad is a Palestinian-American protester, and the founder of Yalla Indivisible, a vibrant community organization dedicated to the civic empowerment and active engagement of Black, Indigenous, and People of Color (BIPOC) communities. Yalla Indivisible has a strong commitment to uplifting Palestinian and Arab voices and a mission to foster a political and

1 social environment where the diverse tapestry of its members can fully participate and be heard. At 2 all relevant times, Lubna resided in Orange County, California.

3 352. Lubna first stopped by the encampment on April 27. She arrived at the encampment
4 around 11:30 PM and immediately encountered a tense situation, as counter protesters harassed
5 encampment members and violently attempted to break into the encampment.

6 353. Lubna returned to the encampment on April 30 to support her friend's daughter and 7 other protesters, arriving around 11:30 PM. Chemical munitions burned her eyes as the mob
8 attacked. Mob members screamed obscenities at her in accented Arabic like "bitch" and "slut," just 9 as she has heard Israelis use those Arabic words to insult people in Palestine. One mob member
10 called her a "terrorist." Another attacker looked at Lubna and threatened her, saying, "You don't 11 stand a chance, old lady."

12 354. Mob members threw a blunt item, hitting her left leg, destabilizing her knee, and 13 causing pain and swelling. The pain lasted for months afterward, and her knee feels weaker and still 14 tender to this day.

15 355. The attackers at other points shined a red laser and flashlights in her eyes. Another
16 time, the mob sprayed a viscous chemical munition that stuck in Lubna's hair. At first, she did not 17 know what the substance was, and then the burning started all over her face and eyes. The pain was 18 unending. Even after she received medical attention, the burning remained for a few hours and even 19 came back around 6:00 AM.

20 356. Lubna previously worked as a legal consultant for UNICEF and with Defense for 21 Children International, where she witnessed horrific violence in Palestine firsthand. Her experience
22 at the encampment, being attacked by the mob while authorities refused to intervene, immediately
23 triggered images she experienced in Palestine, where the Israeli military often stands by, watching 24 and allowing illegal Israeli settlers to attack Palestinians, refusing to protect them from such 25 violence.

26 357. In addition to her physical injuries, Lubna continues to suffer psychologically and 27 emotionally to the present day.

Roe 12

358. Plaintiff Roe 12 is a pro-Palestinian protester. He graduated from UCLA in 2024. At all relevant times, he was a resident of Los Angeles County.

359. After seeing UCLA and the police fail to protect the encampment and pro-Palestinian protesters from the violent mob attack the night before, Roe 12 came to the encampment on May 1 to help support and protect the encampment.

360. Roe 12 wore lab goggles to protect his eyes from chemical irritants used by the police during their raid. Around 4:30 AM, Roe 12's goggles were hanging around his neck when a police officer grabbed Roe 12's goggles and dragged him 5 to 6 feet along the ground, causing the strap of his goggles to dig into Roe 12's neck, cutting him and causing him to bleed. The force of the strangulation caused Roe 12 to stop breathing for several moments. After the shock of being strangled by the police wore off, fear began to set in. Despite his injuries, Roe 12 was not offered any medical attention by police until around 9:00 or 10:00 AM.

361. As a result of being dragged and strangled by the police, Roe 12 experienced painful bruising and scabs on his neck for over a week. Roe 12 still suffers from psychological and emotional harm from the memory of the police raid and his arrest.

Bharat Venkat

362. Plaintiff Dr. Bharat Venkat is an Associate Professor at UCLA with a joint appointment spanning the Institute for Society & Genetics, the Department of History, and the Department of Anthropology. He is also the director of the UCLA Heat Lab and is affiliated with the UCLA Center for India & South Asia, the Program in Digital Humanities, the Urban Humanities Initiative, and the Luskin Center for Innovation. Dr. Venkat's research focuses on a range of issues related to science, medicine, climate, race, and design. He has published widely including an award-winning book, and was awarded a National Science Foundation Grant. As a Faculty in Residence, Dr. Venkat lives in a UCLA student dorm and provides formal and informal resident-faculty interactions through programming, classes, individual and small-group advising, and casual association. He teaches over 200 UCLA students a year and in 2023 won both the Society for Medical Anthropology's Carole H. Browner Student Mentorship Award and UCLA's Life Sciences

1 Excellence in Educational Innovation Award for his work with students. He is a Los Angeles
2 County resident and resided therein at all relevant times in this complaint.

3 363. On April 30, 2024, Dr. Venkat was on campus when he heard loud explosions 4 coming from the area of the encampment, while simultaneously seeing fireworks being shot at the 5 encampment on social media.

6 364. The mob sprayed Dr. Venkat with chemical munitions multiple times. The first time
7 it happened, he panicked and thought he might lose his eyesight. Dr. Venkat's eyes were burning
8 intensely, and he could not see. At other times, he could not breathe or open his eyes without getting 9 chemical munitions in his eyes and mouth. Dr. Venkat stayed until around 4:00 AM on May 1 10 helping injured and terrified students, until they felt safe and got the care they needed, before 11 returning home exhausted to sleep.

12 365. Dr. Venkat returned later that day on May 1 for a faculty press conference. At the 13 press conference, a mob member screamed: "Go back to your country!" and yelled homophobic
14 slurs at him. Dr. Venkat, who is gay, experienced additional psychological and emotional distress as 15 a result of this.

16 366. Dr. Venkat continues to suffer psychologically and emotionally to this day. He was 17 unable to work for several months. Dr. Venkat had a book due soon after in 2023 but was put 18 several months behind as a result of UCLA's failure to protect students and faculty.

19 367. Dr. Venkat cried in fear in public spaces for months afterward. For an extended
20 period, Dr. Venkat was not sleeping well. He would sit and stare at the food, unable to eat. Some of 21 Dr. Venkat's Muslim students also stopped coming to class due to their fear of UCLA private 22 security and UCPD, and fear that they would not be protected from additional mob violence.

23 Roe 7

24 368. Roe 7 earned her bachelor's degree from UCLA in July 2024. At all relevant times, 25 she was a resident of Los Angeles County.

26 369. Roe 7 attended speeches in the encampment on May 1 over several hours that night, 27 police raided the encampment in waves, each lasting roughly an hour. Police set off flashbangs and 28

1 released chemical munitions that obscured her vision and caused her eyes to swell in immense pain.
2 Roe 7's eyes were swollen for multiple days afterward.

3 370. When the police broke into the encampment, Roe 7 watched, terrified, as police
4 violently grabbed her friend and arrested him. The police appeared gleeful like they were happy to 5 be brutalizing students. One officer broke from his formation and made a beeline for the Palestinian 6 flag that was flying inside the encampment, enthusiastically ripping it down and flinging it to the 7 ground.

8 371. Eventually, police, including the one who ripped down the flag, pushed Roe 7 and 9 other protesters back, kettling them toward the library. Roe 7 was not resisting or trying to run, yet
10 police brutally beat her legs with their batons, causing bruises that remained for many days 11 afterward.

12 372. Around 5:15 AM Roe 7 was arrested near the library. One officer zip-tied Roe 7's
13 wrists in a painful position behind her back. Roe 7 repeatedly asked for her zip-ties to be loosened
14 because they were so tight that her wrists were in pain and her fingers were swollen, but police 15 ignored her. Roe 7 asked police several times why she was being arrested, but no police would 16 answer her. Instead, police patted Roe 7 down and forced her to sit on the sidewalk for around an 17 hour.

18 Gina Viola Peake

19 373. Plaintiff Gina Viola Peake is a longtime local activist who organizes with White
20 People for Black Lives (the Los Angeles chapter of Showing Up for Racial Justice). She is a UC
21 alumna, graduating from the University of California, Riverside, and the mother of a current UC
22 student. At all relevant times, she was a resident of Los Angeles County.

23 374. Gina had participated in the movement for justice in Palestine for several years.
24 Given her deep training and experience as a police liaison, a member of the Faculty for Justice in 25 Palestine invited Gina to help with safety and de-escalation for the encampment.

26 375. In the days before the April 30 mob attack, Gina was assaulted by counter protesters
27 as they escalated, vulgarly insulting and threatening her: "Hope you get raped!", "Dirty whore!", 28

1 “Go rape yourself with your mask!”, “Go home and kill yourself!”, and “Race traitor!”, among 2 other things.

3 376. On April 28, Gina was present to help with de-escalation efforts and to keep students
4 safe. Gina became increasingly concerned at the escalating violence and threats coming from the 5 mob. One UCLA private security guard mentioned to her how “unhinged” the Zionist mob
6 members were acting, and how calm the pro-Palestinian protesters were.

7 377. Gina returned to UCLA around 11:00 PM on April 30. As she entered campus, Gina
8 saw members of the mob harassing and threatening students. After Gina approached to help de-
9 escalate the situation, the mob members terrified Gina, chasing them into the encampment.

10 378. Gina then went to the front of the encampment to help protect it from the mob
11 attacks. For the next hour, the mob attacked Gina and the encampment, throwing dangerous objects 12 and shooting fireworks and chemical munitions into the encampment.

13 379. A mob member hit Gina with a wooden plank as the mob was attacking the wooden 14 safety barricade. The mob attack also left her with an injured thumb for 6 months.

15 Eric Wefald

16 380. Plaintiff Eric Wefald is a pro-Palestinian protester who had attended multiple 17 protests leading up to the UCLA encampment. At all relevant times, she was a resident of Los 18 Angeles County.

19 381. After witnessing the mob attack the encampment on April 30 which was streamed
20 live over social media, Eric went to help. Sometime around 3:00 AM on May 2, Eric was at the 21 front of the line when police, began shooting flashbangs. As police approached, they hit Eric with 22 their batons. Police pushed Eric, who is mixed race and was wearing a keffiyeh, so hard with their 23 baton that he fell to the ground. As soon as he stood up, the police started hitting him again with 24 their batons.

25 382. Police then hit Eric so hard that he collapsed, falling to the ground. While lying face-
26 down on the ground, police swung their batons and brutally beat him. Eric did not resist and kept 27 screaming out that he was not resisting while police beat him. At this moment Eric thought they 28 were going to kill him.

383. Once the adrenaline and shock of being beaten up so badly by police wore off following his release, Eric felt intense pain in his back where police hit him with their batons. Eric had bruising down his side and a lot of pain and soreness in his back. Eric was treated for his back injuries, which helped to lessen the intensity of the pain, but his back pain continues to this day.

384. Eric continues to suffer psychologically and emotionally to this day. Sleeping was difficult for many days. He has sought the help of a therapist after being beaten so severely by police. The sound of helicopters and the sight of police continue to cause him anxiety.

Roe 13

385. Plaintiff Roe 13 was a second-year history student at UCLA at the time of the attack. At all relevant times, he was a resident of California.

386. On May 1, 2024, on the UCLA Campus, a violent mob sprayed Roe 13 with a dark yellow substance, which Roe 13 believes, upon information and belief, was a chemical munition, that severely damaged Roe 13 and required approximately one month of persistent treatment to alleviate the physical pain.

387. Roe 13 is currently still receiving psychological treatment as a direct result of the attack.

388. As a direct and proximate result of the attack and Defendants' reckless and negligent conduct, Roe 13 suffers from physical injuries, PTSD, and damages, the exact amount of which will be determined according to proof at trial.

Pseudonymous Plaintiffs

389. Plaintiffs Roe 1 through Roe 15, and Plaintiff Mahmoud Alnaouq are pseudonyms for the actual names of some of the Plaintiffs.<sup>13</sup> These plaintiffs will seek leave of court to use these pseudonyms as soon as the defendants have all been served. The pseudonymous plaintiffs have all either suffered direct harm themselves or have witnessed harm inflicted upon others for voicing opposition to Israel's genocidal attack on Gaza and the legitimate national aspirations of the Palestinian people. Plaintiffs or people known to them have been threatened with violent harm, have <sup>13</sup> One pseudonymous plaintiff has chosen the name of Mahmoud Alnaouq to honor the memory of his friend who was a university student in Gaza, and was killed along with his entire family when Israel bombed their apartment building.

1 been fired from their jobs, or have been subjected to online hate campaigns. The pseudonymous
2 plaintiffs respectfully submit that their legitimate interest in security and privacy on balance
3 outweighs the public's right to access court information. Once pseudonymous status is granted,
4 these plaintiffs will seek an appropriate "Attorneys-Eyes Only" protective order so that defendants'
5 counsel may know their identities without defendants themselves learning this information.

6 THE DEFENDANTS

7 Rioting Mob Defendants

8 390. The following Defendants actively participated in a mob that staged brutal, hours.
9 -long riot against the students and others who had peacefully assembled at the encampment. Each of 10 these persons cooperated or worked in concert with at least two other persons to engage in violence 11 or threaten violence for the purpose of intimidating or retaliating against journalists, protestors, and 12 members of the encampment for exercising their civil or constitutional rights. The "Riot
13 Defendants" identified also cooperated with and worked in concert with persons as yet unknown
14 who helped organize, equip, or finance the riot. Those unknown persons are therefore names as Doe
15 Defendants and Plaintiffs will amend this complaint as their identities become known.

16 391. In doing these things, the Riot Defendants were motivated by, inter alia, the actual or 17 perceived race, color, religion, ancestry, or national origin of the Plaintiffs or those whom they were 18 among; or because of the actual or perceived race, color, religion, ancestry, or national origin, of 19 those with whom the Plaintiffs associated.

20 392. Isaac Bokhoor is a Beverly Hills resident and co-owner of Angel City Jewelers.
21 Bokhoor is sued in his capacity. Bokhoor attacked Plaintiff Thistle Boosinger, repeatedly smashing
22 her exposed hand with a metal rod-like object, breaking her hand and severing a nerve in her ring
23 finger, causing Thistle excruciating pain.

24 393. Matin Mehdizadeh is a Los Angeles resident who participated in the mob attack at 25 UCLA, working in concert with other mob attackers to assault, batter, and violate the civil rights of 26 Plaintiff Catherine Hamilton.

27 394. Tom Bibiyan is a 45-year-old Los Angeles resident and local entrepreneur.
28 Defendant Bibiyan attacked several protesters on the night of April 30, including Plaintiff Dolores

1 Quintana. Bibiyan is seen on video attacking the encampment and conspiring with others to terrify
2 them as part of the mob attack.

3 395. Jared Rubin is a Los Angeles resident who participated in the mob attack at UCLA, 4 working in concert with other mob attackers to assault, batter, and violate the civil rights of 5 Plaintiffs Jimi Degen and Isabella Lee.

6 396. Nouri Mehdizadeh is a Los Angeles resident who harassed and brandished a knife at 7 the encampment on April 28 and who participated in the April 30 mob attack at UCLA, working in 8 concert with other mob attackers to assault, batter, and violate the civil rights of Plaintiff Catherine 9 Hamilton.

10 397. Edan On is a 19-year-old Los Angeles resident who was arrested by Los Angeles 11 Police for alleged assaults at UCLA during the encampment. On led mob attacks on the 12 encampment, viciously beating protesters and terrorizing them throughout the night, including 13 Plaintiff Dolores Quintana and Afnan Khawaja.

14 398. Eyal Shalom is a Los Angeles resident and part of the mob attack on the Palestine
15 Solidarity Encampment. In coordination with Defendant Anthony Prouzinin, Shalom sprayed 16 Plaintiff Dolores Quintana in the eyes with a chemical munition as she stood peacefully filming the 17 crowd as part of the mob's overall coordination to attack the encampment. Shalom also attacked 18 Plaintiff Catherine Hamilton on April 30, 2024.

19 399. Anthony Prouzinin is a Los Angeles resident who was present on the night of the 21 Eric Wefald, Mahmoud Elnaouq, and Roes 1, 2, 3, 4, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 12, 13, and 14

Against All Government Defendants and Does 98-125

22 430. Plaintiffs repeat and replead the allegations of the preceding paragraphs and 23 incorporate them as though fully set forth herein.

24 431. California Civil Code 52.1 prohibits any “person or persons, whether or not acting 25 under color of law” from interfering “by threat, intimidation or coercion” with the “exercise or 26 enjoyment by any individual or individuals of rights secured by the Constitution or laws of the 27 United States, or of the rights secured by the Constitution of laws of this state.” Civ. Code. § 52.1.
28

1           432. Art. I, §2 of the California Constitution guarantees Plaintiffs the same rights as
2 “[E]very person [to] freely speak, write and publish his or her sentiments on all subjects. . .” and
3 demands that “A law may not restrain or abridge liberty of speech or press.”

4           433. Defendants interfered by threat, intimidation, or coercion with Plaintiffs’ exercise or 5 enjoyment of their speech, expression, and associational rights guaranteed by the Constitution of the 6 State of California and the United States when Defendants decided to impermissibly shut down
7 Plaintiffs’ protected activities at the Palestine Solidarity Encampment.

8           434. This decision to shut down the Plaintiffs’ protected activities at the encampment was 9 without legal justification, especially because the Plaintiffs themselves did not violate any criminal 10 law or university policy at any point during their participation and association with the 11 encampment.

12           435. Nevertheless, in a message on the morning of May 1, Defendants threatened and 13 intimidated Plaintiffs—and all other UC-affiliated personnel—with academic discipline if they 14 remained at the site of the encampment.

15           436. Defendants then used threats, intimidation, and coercion, which forced Plaintiffs to 16 vacate the premises through the illegal use of an unlawful assembly declaration. In so doing, they 17 employed actual threats and coercion by declaring the site of the encampment an unlawful assembly
18 and threatening to arrest, and causing the arrest of, anyone who did not disperse.

19           437. All Plaintiffs listed herein reasonably believed that one or more of the above-named
20 defendants or their agents would direct the commission of violence or commit violence against 21 them if they continued to exercise their civil rights and liberties to prevent Plaintiffs from exercising 22 their civil rights and liberties and that each of the defendants had the apparent ability to cause such 23 threats to be carried out.

24           438. All Plaintiffs listed herein reasonably believed that they would be subjected to 25 academic discipline as students and/or labor discipline as faculty or staff if they continued to 26 exercise their civil rights and liberties, and that each of the defendants had the apparent ability to 27 cause such threats to be carried out.

28

439. As a direct and legal result of Defendants' actions, Plaintiffs have suffered mental and emotional distress, have lost income and the ability to earn future income, and have incurred related expenses. The amount of general and compensatory damages shall be proven at trial.

440. In doing the things hereinabove alleged Defendants Drake, Block, Hunt, Beck, Scheffler, Gordon, and Braziel, and Does 1-20, and each of them, acted with deliberate disregard of the rights and safety of Plaintiffs, and are therefore liable for punitive damages in amounts sufficient to punish the defendants sued herein and to deter future similar misconduct.

441. The Plaintiffs intend to continue attending and participating in demonstrations but fear further assault and other retaliation.

Against All Government Defendants and Does 98-125

442. Plaintiffs repeat and replead the allegations of the preceding paragraphs and incorporate them as though fully set forth herein.

443. Each of the Plaintiffs named herein was violently attacked by agents of the government entity defendants to prevent Plaintiffs from exercising their civil rights and civil liberties or to retaliate against them for doing so.

444. In doing the acts hereinabove alleged, the agents of the government entity defendants who attacked one or more Plaintiffs did not do so in the course of exercising reasonable force to effect a lawful arrest, but in fact did so to prevent Plaintiffs from exercising their civil rights, or to retaliate against them for doing so.

445. As a direct and legal result of this violence, Plaintiffs suffered physical injuries, mental and emotional distress; have lost income and future earning capacity; and have incurred medical expenses. The conduct of defendants sued in this cause of action was a substantial factor in

1 causing such harm, entitling Plaintiffs to special damages and general compensatory damages in an
2 amount to be proven at trial.

3 446. In doing the things hereinabove alleged Defendants Drake, Block, Hunt, Beck,
4 Gordon, and Braziel, and Does 1-20, and each of them, acted with deliberate disregard of the rights
5 and safety of Plaintiffs, and are therefore liable for punitive damages in amounts sufficient to punish 6 the defendants sued herein and to deter future similar misconduct.

7 447. Plaintiffs intend to continue attending and participating in demonstrations but fear

10 membership in or association with persons of a particular race, national origin, religion, or ethnic 11 affiliation, or because of their newsgathering activities.

12 454. All Plaintiffs listed herein reasonably believed that one or more of the above-named
13 defendants or their agents would direct the commission of violence or commit violence against 14 them to prevent Plaintiffs from exercising their civil rights and liberties and that each of the 15 defendants had the apparent ability to carry out such threats. Many of the Plaintiffs named herein 16 were the direct victims of such violence.

17 455. As a direct and legal result of Defendants' actions, Plaintiffs have suffered physical 18 harm and mental and emotional distress, have lost income and the ability to earn future income, and 19 have incurred medical and related expenses. The amount of general and compensatory damages
20 shall be proven at trial.

21 456. In doing the things hereinabove alleged, RIOT DEFENDANTS and Does 21-100,

23 therefore liable for punitive damages in amounts sufficient to punish the defendants sued herein and 24 to deter future similar misconduct.

EIGHTH CAUSE OF ACTION

For Negligence

By Plaintiffs Graeme Blair, James (Jimi) Peric Degen, Catherine Hamilton, Jakob Johnson, Isabella Lee, Binyamin Moryosef, Bharat Venkat, and Roes 1, 3, 5, 6, 8, 9, 10, 12, 13, 14, and 15 Against Michael v. Drake, Eugene “Gene” Block, Darnell Hunt, Michael J. Beck, Monroe Gorden, Jr., Richard “Rick” Braziel, Does 1-20, and the Regents of the University of California

486. Plaintiffs repeat and replead the allegations of the preceding paragraphs and incorporate them as though fully set forth herein.

487. At all times material hereto, each of the individual defendants sued in this cause of action was working and acting entirely within the course and scope of their respective roles as officials employed by the Regents of the University of California.

488. Beginning on the first day of the Palestine Solidarity Encampment and continuing through the brutal mob assault on the night of April 30, 2024, each of the individual defendants sued in this cause of action was repeatedly warned of escalating threats and violent acts carried out against encampment members.

489. Despite (or perhaps because of) the mounting risk of grave harm to students, faculty, and staff inside of the Solidarity Encampment, and other students who were nearby as reporters for

1 UCLA's student newspaper, the individual defendants turned their backs on the Plaintiffs and took 2 no reasonable steps to protect them from the dangers they faced.

3 490. In doing the things hereinabove alleged, the Individual Defendants and Does 1-20
4 harmed Plaintiffs.

5 491. As a direct and legal result of the aforementioned acts or omissions, the Plaintiffs 6 named in this cause of action sustained and incurred damages, including pain, suffering, and 7 emotional injury.

8 492. Pursuant to Government Code §815.2, the Regents are vicariously liable for the 9 injuries caused by their employees and agents.

10 NINTH CAUSE OF ACTION

11 For False Arrest in Violation of Article I, §13 of the California Constitution

12 By Plaintiffs Joseph Murphy, Aaron Palmer, Eric Wefald, Mahmoud Elnaouq, 13 and Roes 1, 4, 6, 8, 9, 10, and 11.

14 Against the Regents of the University of California, the California Highway Patrol,
15 and The City Of Los Angeles

16 493. Plaintiffs repeat and replead the allegations of the preceding paragraphs and 17 incorporate them as though fully set forth herein.

18 494. Defendants UCPD, LAPD, and CHP unlawfully and without legal justification
19 caused the arrests of Plaintiffs Eric Wefald, and Roes 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, and 12 on May 2, 2024

20 495. Defendants UCPD, LAPD, and CHP unlawfully and without legal justification
21 caused the arrests of Plaintiffs Joseph Murphy, Aaron Palmer, Mahmoud Elnaouq, and Roes 1 and 22 4 on June 10, 2024.

23 496. On both May 2, 2024, and June 10, 2024, Defendants caused Plaintiffs' arrest
24 without warrant or probable cause.

25 497. Defendants lacked probable cause to arrest or cause the arrests of Plaintiffs on either
26 May 2, 2024, or June 10, 2024, because there was no underlying criminal offense that could justify 27 the unlawful assembly declaration, which was based solely on violations of university policy, not 28 any criminal offense, violence, imminent threat of danger, as required by California law. See In re

1 Brown, 9 Cal. 3d at 624 (“An unlawful act within the meaning of section 407 . . . means criminal
2 conduct prohibited by state law.”).

3 498. Because the unlawful assembly declaration was itself unlawful, there was no
4 probable cause to arrest for failure to disperse under California Penal Code section 409, which 5 applies only when an individual has been “lawfully warned to disperse.”

6 499. Moreover, when Defendants arrested Plaintiffs, they failed to make any effort to 7 distinguish between the participants in any unlawful activity and innocent bystanders, as required to 8 carry out a lawful arrest for failure to disperse under Penal Code section 409. See Dubner v. City &
9 Cnty. of San Francisco, 266 F.3d 959, 967 (9th Cir. 2001).

10 500. Defendants acted in the performance of their official duties when they directed,
11 caused, and effectuated the arrest of Plaintiffs.

12 501. As a direct and legal cause of Defendants’ actions and omissions, Plaintiffs were 13 arrested without probable cause and in violation of Article 1, Section 13 of the California
14 Constitution.

15 502. As a direct and legal result of Defendants’ actions, Plaintiffs have suffered physical 16 harm and mental and emotional distress, have lost income and the ability to earn future income, and
17 have incurred medical and related expenses. The amount of general and compensatory damages
18 shall be proven at trial.

19 503. As a direct and legal result of the Defendants’ actions, the Plaintiffs who were 20 students have faced unwarranted disciplinary action merely because of their false and unlawful 21 arrests, interrupting their education and depriving them of graduation, academic, and employment 22 opportunities.

1 TWELFTH CAUSE OF ACTION

2 Taxpayer Suit for Declaratory and Injunctive Relief

3 Code of Civil Procedure § 526a

4 By All Plaintiffs

5 Against Defendants State of California and City of Los Angeles

6 519. Plaintiffs repeat and replead each of the allegations in the preceding and subsequent paragraphs and incorporate the same as though fully set forth herein.

7 520. The State of California imposes a sales tax. The City of Los Angeles assesses a sales tax that is added to the basic state sales tax, in addition to other taxes. Plaintiffs have been assessed and are liable to pay taxes in and to the City of Los Angeles. Plaintiffs have suffered, and unless the Court restrains Defendants, will continue to suffer irreparable harm.

11 521. Plaintiffs are informed and believe, and on that basis allege, that the conduct of Defendants, their employees, agents, and contractors, has been and, unless restrained, will continue to be deleterious to the constitutional and statutory rights of Plaintiffs and the general public. Plaintiffs thereby seek to enforce important rights affecting the public interest within the meaning of California Code of Civil Procedure § 1021.5.

16 522. Plaintiffs have no adequate remedy at law.

17 523. Defendants have expended public monies and threaten and will continue to spend such monies to implement and engage in the illegal conduct described herein.

Plaintiffs seek injunctive relief pursuant to California Code of Civil Procedure § 526a and the substantive standards reflected in the claims stated above, for which injunctive and declaratory relief are appropriate remedies.

1           526. It is necessary and appropriate for the Court to render a declaratory judgment that
2 sets forth the parties' legal rights and obligations with respect to constitutionally protected 3 assemblies and demonstrations.
